Science for Environmental Protection National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology, Committee on Science for EPA's Future, 2012-12-21 In anticipation of future environmental science and engineering challenges and technologic advances EPA asked the National Research Council NRC to assess the overall capabilities of the agency to develop obtain and use the best available scientific and technologic information and tools to meet persistent emerging and future mission challenges and opportunities Although the committee cannot predict with certainty what new environmental problems EPA will face in the next 10 years or more it worked to identify some of the common drivers and common characteristics of problems that are likely to occur Tensions inherent to the structure of EPA's work contribute to the current and persistent challenges faced by the agency and meeting those challenges will require development of leading edge scientific methods tools and technologies and a more deliberate approach to systems thinking and interdisciplinary science Science for Environmental Protection The Road Ahead outlines a framework for building science for environmental protection in the 21st century and identified key areas where enhanced leadership and capacity can strengthen the agency's abilities to address current and emerging environmental challenges as well as take advantage of new tools and technologies to address them The foundation of EPA science is strong but the agency needs to continue to address numerous present and future challenges if it is to maintain its science leadership and meet its expanding mandates

Breaking Point Rebecca Schwartz Greene, 2023-01-03 WINNER SOCIETY FOR MILITARY HISTORY DISTINGUISHED BOOK AWARDS FIRST BOOK This book informs the public for the first time about the impact of American psychiatry on soldiers during World War II Breaking Point is the first in depth history of American psychiatry in World War II Drawn from unpublished primary documents oral histories and the author's personal interviews and correspondence over years with key psychiatric and military policymakers it begins with Franklin Roosevelt's endorsement of a universal Selective Service psychiatric examination followed by Army and Navy pre and post induction examinations Ultimately 2.5 million men and women were rejected or discharged from military service on neuropsychiatric grounds Never before or since has the United States engaged in such a program In designing Selective Service Medical Circular No 1 psychiatrist Harry Stack Sullivan assumed psychiatrists could predict who might break down or falter in military service or even in civilian life thereafter While many American and European psychiatrists questioned this belief and huge numbers of American psychiatric casualties soon raised questions about screening's validity psychiatric and military leaders persisted in 1942 and 1943 in endorsing ever tougher screening and little else Soon families complained of fathers and teens being drafted instead of being identified as psychiatric 4Fs and Blacks and Native Americans among others complained of bias A frustrated General George S Patton famously slapped two malingering neuropsychiatric patients in Sicily a sentiment shared by Marshall and Eisenhower though they favored a tamer style Yet psychiatric rejections evacuations and discharges mounted While psychiatrist Roy Grinker and a few others treated soldiers close to the front in Tunisia in early 1943 this was the exception But as demand for manpower soared and psychiatrists finally went to the field and saw that combat itself not predisposition precipitated breakdown leading military psychiatrists switched their emphasis from screening to prevention and treatment But this switch was too little too late and slowed by a year long series of Inspector General investigations even while numbers of psychiatric casualties soared Ironically despite and even partly because of psychiatrists wartime performance plus the emotional toll of war postwar America soon witnessed a dramatic growth in numbers popularity and influence of the profession culminating in the National Mental Health Act 1946 But veterans with PTSD not recognized until 1980 were largely neglected

Doing Business in America Hasia R. Diner, 2018-12-14 American and Jewish historians have long shied away from the topic of Jews and business Avoidance patterns grew in part from old often negative stereotypes that linked Jews with money and the perceived ease and regularity with which they found success with money condemning Jews for their desires for wealth and their proclivities for turning a profit A new dauntless generation of historians however realizes that Jewish business has had and continues to have a profound impact on American culture and development and patterns of immigrant Jewish exploration of business opportunities reflect internal communal Jewish cultural structures and their relationship to the larger non Jewish world As such they see the subject rightly as a vital and underexplored area of study Doing Business in America A Jewish History edited by Hasia R Diner rises to the challenge of taking on the long unspoken taboo subject comprising leading scholars and exploring an array of key topics in this important and growing area of research
