Midnight Delights Dark Erotic Fantasies:

Invisible Pleasures R. Pollard, 2016-04-25 I have often seen the film of my first birthday party which shows me sitting like a puffed up pigeon chick in the white frilly plumage of my party dress sitting on a rug on the small but neatly trimmed rear garden lawn with my parents and aunts gathered round me in a circle My cousin another squab sits with me cushioned on the rug But I feel no affinity with or memory of the creature that blows out its solitary candle on the cake I am the child s stranger and I have little feeling for it I see it plump as it reaches out to push its finger into the eye of its cousin who sits beside it A highly amusing memoir from a newly published author Invisible Pleasures beautifully and vividly describes his life from the first tremors of his imagination as a child through his early memories in the War to the wild youthful Rabelaisian excitement of the 60s in London and his subsequent working in Borneo and Malaya as an architect It is an unrequited love story and a travelogue through parts of the pre globalised world where many places on the map then before mass tourism had sucked them dry of mystery were yet to be visited And it asks the question of what we are and where we come from in either God s World or the Universe of Science Everywhere there were places to discover and exiting tales to be told This exciting memoir of love affairs and overseas adventures will appeal to those with an interest in the arts and foreign travel

City of Dreadful Delight Judith R. Walkowitz, 2013-06-14 From tabloid exposes of child prostitution to the grisly tales of Jack the Ripper narratives of sexual danger pulsed through Victorian London Expertly blending social history and cultural criticism Judith Walkowitz shows how these narratives reveal the complex dramas of power politics and sexuality that were being played out in late nineteenth century Britain and how they influenced the language of politics journalism and fiction Victorian London was a world where long standing traditions of class and gender were challenged by a range of public spectacles mass media scandals new commercial spaces and a proliferation of new sexual categories and identities In the midst of this changing culture women of many classes challenged the traditional privileges of elite males and asserted their presence in the public domain An important catalyst in this conflict argues Walkowitz was W T Stead s widely read 1885 article about child prostitution Capitalizing on the uproar caused by the piece and the volatile political climate of the time women spoke of sexual danger articulating their own grievances against men inserting themselves into the public discussion of sex to an unprecedented extent and gaining new entree to public spaces and journalistic practices The ultimate manifestation of class anxiety and gender antagonism came in 1888 with the tabloid tales of Jack the Ripper In between there were quotidian stories of sexual possibility and urban adventure and Walkowitz examines them all showing how women were not simply figures in the imaginary landscape of male spectators but also central actors in the stories of metropolotin life that reverberated in courtrooms learned journals drawing rooms street corners and in the letters columns of the daily press A model of cultural history this ambitious book will stimulate and enlighten readers across a broad range of interests The Films of the Nineties W. Palmer,2009-03-02 By breaking down classic films from the nineteen nineties such as Forest Gump and Titanic this book offers a reel to reel cultural analysis chronicling the concept of spin as a major sociopolitical persuasion strategy
