Editorial: The Role of the Physician

The role of the physician in society has changed in many ways since the days of the "family doctor." The physician is no longer the central figure in the community, as he was in the past. The physician is now a member of a team, and the team is the patient. The physician is no longer the one who decides what is best for the patient, but rather, he is the one who helps the patient decide. The physician is no longer the one who is responsible for the patient's health, but rather, he is the one who helps the patient take responsibility for his own health.

The physician is no longer the one who is the only person who can help the patient. There are many other people who can help the patient, and the physician is no longer the one who is the only person who can help the patient. The physician is no longer the one who is the only person who can help the patient. The physician is no longer the one who is the only person who can help the patient.
