Water Pollution XIV S. Hernández, S. Mambretti, 2018-08-21 Water pollution problems are of continued importance around the world with an impact on both populated areas and the environment This volume consists of papers presented at the 14th International Conference in the series of Monitoring Modelling and Management of Water Pollution The environmental problems caused by the increase of pollutant loads discharged into natural water bodies requires the formation of a framework for regulation and control This framework needs to be based on scientific results that relate pollutant discharge with changes in water quality The results of these studies allow industry to apply more efficient methods of controlling and treating waste loads and water authorities to enforce appropriate regulations regarding this matter Environmental problems are essentially interdisciplinary Engineers and scientists working in this field must be familiar with a wide range of issues including the physical processes of mixing and dilution chemical and biological processes mathematical modelling data acquisition and measurement to name but a few In view of the scarcity of available data it is important that experiences are shared on an international basis Thus a continuous exchange of information between scientists from different countries is essential Topics covered include Water contamination Monitoring modelling and forecasting Water management Wastewater management Groundwater and aquifers Flood damage Freshwater quality Coastal and offshore pollution Health risk studies Agricultural contamination Industrial pollution Water reuse Emerging technologies Socio economic political consequences Population and climate change Education and training
