9% with the AHRI 1250 calculation Becker et al 2011 to 1.1% with the Proposed 1250 calculation AWEF correlation between hourly simulations and the 1250 calculation degraded from 7.4% with the AHRI 1250 calculation Becker et al 2011 to 15.9% with the Proposed 1250 calculation Plotting the results for the AWEF and compressor runtime correlation versus variation in the box load between the hourly simulation and Proposed 1250 calculation results revealed an issue with the compressor runtime calculation At a box load variation of zero the Proposed 1250 AWEF correlation is improved to 2.4% and the Proposed 1250 compressor runtime correlation is degraded to 14.6% If a specific compressor runtime had not been targeted the AWEF correlation for each simulation set would have been improved To summarize the Proposed 1250 equations yield an improved AWEF calculation but do not accurately calculate the corresponding compressor runtime
