Lesotho Times Jc Results Publication For 2014:

Summary of Events in Lesotho, 2015 The Geography of South Africa Jasper Knight, Christian M.

Rogerson, 2018-10-03 This edited collection examines contemporary directions in geographical research on South Africa. It encompasses a cross section of selected themes of critical importance not only to the discipline of Geography in South Africa but also of relevance to other areas of the Global South. All chapters are original contributions providing a state of the art research baseline on key themes in physical human and environmental geography and in understanding the changing geographical landscapes of modern South Africa. These contributions set the scene for an understanding of the relationships between modern South Africa and the wider contemporary world including issues of sustainable development and growth in the Global South. Handbook of Research on Teaching in Multicultural and Multilingual Contexts Charamba,

Erasmus, 2022-06-24 Several factors have resulted in increased intra and inter state migration. This has led to an increase in the enrollment of students with diverse linguistic backgrounds placing more academic demands on educators. Linguistic diversity presents both opportunities and challenges for educators across the educational spectrum. Language ideologies profoundly shape and constrain the use of language as a resource for learning in multilingual or linguistically diverse classrooms. While English has become the world language, most communities remain and are becoming more and more multicultural, multilingual, and diverse. The Handbook of Research on Teaching in Multicultural and Multilingual Contexts moves beyond the constraints of current language ideologies and enables the use of a wide range of resources from local semiotic repertoires. It examines the phenomenon of language use, language teaching, multiculturalism, and multilingualism in different learning areas, giving practitioners a voice to spotlight their efforts in order to keep their teaching afloat in culturally and linguistically diverse situations. Covering topics such as Indigenous languages, multilingual deaf communities, and intercultural competence, this major reference work is an essential resource for educators of both K-12 and higher education: pre-service teachers, educational psychologists, linguists, education administrators, and policymakers, government officials, researchers, and academicians. Quaternary Vegetation Dynamics Jürgen Runge, William Gosling, Anne-Marie

Lézine, Louis Scott, 2021-11-28 This book celebrates the relaunch of the African Pollen Database, presents state of the art of modern and ancient pollen data from sub-Saharan Africa, and promotes Open Access science. Pollen grains are powerful tools for the study of past vegetation dynamics because they preserve well within sedimentary deposits and have a huge diversity in ornamentation that allows different taxa to be determined. The reconstruction of past vegetation from the examination of ancient pollen records thus can be used to characterize the nature of past landscapes, e.g., abundance of forests vs. grasslands, provide insights into changes in biodiversity, and gain empirical evidence of vegetation response to climatic change and human activity. In this, the 35th Volume of Palaeoecology of Africa, we bring together new data and extensive synthetic reviews to provide novel insights into the relationships between human evolution, human activity, climate change, and vegetation dynamics during the Quaternary the last 2.6 million years. Current and ongoing climate and land use change is exerting pressure on modern vegetation formations and threatening the livelihoods and wellbeing of many peoples in Africa. In this book the focus is on the Quaternary because it is during this geological period that the modern vegetation formations developed into their current configurations against a backdrop of high magnitude global climate change, glacial interglacial cycles, human evolution and a growing human land use footprint. In this book the latest information is presented and collated from around the African continent to parameterize past vegetation states, identify the drivers of vegetation change and assess the vegetation resilience to change. To achieve this research from two broad themes are covered: i) the present is the key to the past i.e. studies which improve our understanding of modern environments so that we can better interpret evidence from the past and ii) the past is the key to the future i.e. studies which unlock information on how and why vegetation changed in the past so one can better anticipate trajectories of future change. This Open Access book will provide a strong foundation for future research exploring past ecological, environmental and climatic change within Africa and the surrounding islands. The book is organized regionally covering western, eastern, central and southern Africa and it contains specialized articles focused on particular topics such as modern pollen-vegetation relationships and fire as a driver of vegetation change as well as regional and pan-African syntheses drawing together decades of research to assess key scientific questions including the role of climate in driving vegetation change and the role of vegetation change in human evolution. These articles will be useful to students and teachers from high school to the highest level of university who are interested in the origins and dynamics of vegetation in Africa. Furthermore, it is also meant to provide societally relevant information that can act as an inspiration for the development of sustainable management practices for the future. International Aerospace Abstracts, 1993
