Life Sciences Paper Limpopo September 2014:

The Political Economy of Energy in Sub-Saharan Africa Lucky E. Asuelime, Andrew Emmanuel Okem, 2017-09-29 A deepening ecological crisis is rearing its head in sub Saharan Africa as it faces a myriad of challenges in regards to the development of its energy sector The dirty now and clean up later approach to the environment has a strong appeal particularly because it is often thought of as the last place to try to edge in another priority especially if that priority is perceived by many to be an economic luxury Asuelime and Okem bring together a team of specialist contributors who investigate to what extent sub Saharan Africa has displayed foresight or politico economic integrity The book shows the state's ability to meet the demands of provision of energy in sub Saharan Africa has led to heavy investments in infrastructure transmission and distribution of energy to the citizens However the inefficiencies corruption and unhealthy bureaucratic challenges that accompany this have led urgent problems which will be thoroughly explored in this book The Political Economy of Energy in Sub Saharan Africa will be of interest to students and scholars of African Studies Development Studies political science and environment

Narrating the Everyday: Windows on Life in Central South Africa Asta Rau, Magdalena Wojciechowska, Jan K. Coetzee, 2019-01-01 The chapters in this book reflect on the practice of using narratives to understand individual and social reality They all reveal dimensions of the same concrete reality contemporary society of Central South Africa Except for two all the chapters originated from research in the program The Narrative Study of Lives situated in the Department of Sociology at the University of the Free State in Bloemfontein South Africa Each chapter opens a window on an aspect of everyday life in Central South Africa Each window displays the capacity of the narrative as a methodological tool in qualitative research to open up better understandings of everyday experience The chapters also reflect on the epistemological journey towards unwrapping and breaking open of meaning Narratives are one of many tools available to sociologists in their quest to understand and interpret meaning But when it comes to deep understanding narratives are particularly effective in opening up more intricate levels of meaning associated with emotions feelings and subjective experiences

Working with indigenous knowledge Fhumulani M. Mulaudzi, Rachel T. Lebeso, 2022 The aim of the book is to assist both local and international scholars in articulating the scholarly discourse on indigenous health attitudes practices and experiences The indigenous lens that was used to generate and disseminate indigenous knowledge in this book will strengthen indigenous scholarship thus making it accessible to a wider audience In addition the information shared in this book will add value for scholars and assist them with the indigenous knowledge needed to address sustainable development goals This book is timely and topical as the discourse on the decolonisation of the curriculum is widely debated in the higher education space The discourse on the scholarship of indigenous knowledge as the tacit local knowledge that stems from cultural practices within communities has not been well articulated in the current health science education milieu Indigenous knowledge has remained overlooked and undermined for a very long time and the information remains untapped in local communities The scholars who conducted the research on which this book is based unearthed a wealth of knowledge which was tacit in nature and translated it into implicit knowledge that can be documented and shared with other scholars globally This knowledge will assist health care scholars in benefiting from knowledge practices and cultural beliefs that will assist them in health care planning teaching evidence based practice and further research

The African Food

Environments Amos Laar, Kaleab Baye, Anna Lartey, Francis Zotor, Gershim Asiki, 2023-09-05 In many respects the continent of Africa is in transition Prominent among them currently is the nutrition transition One consequence of the nutrition transition is the increase in prevalence of nutrition related non communicable diseases NCDs such as obesity type 2 diabetes cardiovascular diseases and certain cancers Although NCDs are a global public health problem the rate of increase in NCDs morbidity and mortality in some African countries is staggering This surge has been linked to modifiable environmental factors factors that facilitate the consumption of obesogenic energy dense nutrient poor foods rather than unrefined cereals fruits and vegetables It has long been recognized that the physical and social environments in which people live work and eat

are critical determinants of their health More recently there has been a greater focus on the food environment as a key determinant of health Available evidence shows that unhealthy food environments drive unhealthy diets and unhealthy diet is one of four main risk factors for NCDs The Emerging Policy for Green Economy and Social Development in Limpopo, South Africa Agnes Musyoki,2012 This paper evaluates the emerging green economy in South Africa using ideas from the concept of sustainable rural livelihoods which are intimately connected to ecological services many developing countries It finds that African communities and governments are prioritising green economy for job creation poverty alleviation and reducing inequalities while addressing global environmental concerns What remains problematic however is how these objectives are to be achieved The paper argues that one of the key challenges in South Africa is the gap between policy and implementation of sustainable development the Millennium Development Goals and other globally driven initiatives The paper emphasises that green economy policy needs to consider poverty reduction and women s empowerment in order to promote rural sustainable development Publisher description Transnational Families in Africa Maria C Marchetti-Mercer,Leslie Swartz,Loretta Baldassar,Thembelihle Coka,Glory Kabaghe,Sonto Madonsela,Lactricia Maja,Risuna Mathebula,Siko Moyo,Esther Price,Daniella Rafaely,Ajwang' Warri,2023-12 This is the first book to capture the poignant stories of transnational African families and their use of Information and Communication Technologies ICTs in mediating their experiences of migration and caring across distance Transnational Families in Africa analyses the highs and lows of family separation as a result of migration in three contexts migration within South Africa from rural to urban areas migration from other African countries into South Africa and middle class South Africans emigrating to non African countries The book foregrounds the importance of kinship and support from extended family as well as both the responsibilities migratory family members feel and the experience of loss by those left behind Across the diverse circumstances explored in the book are similarities in migrants strategies for keeping in touch but also large differences in relation to access to ICTs and ease of use that highlight the digital divide and generational gaps As elsewhere in the world and in spite of the varied experiences in these kinship circles the phenomenon that is the transnational family is showing no signs of receding This book provides a groundbreaking contribution to global debates on migration from the Global South Outlook on Agriculture ,2015
