

TUTORIAL 7: ROBERTSON MAPLE FARM

TUTORIAL OBJECTIVES

The purpose of Robertson Maple Farm is to give you more practice in dealing with the various lease transactions. The case focuses on the two main types of leases: operating and finance.

TUTORIAL INSTRUCTIONS

This tutorial will help you determine how to account for each of the lease transactions outlined in the case.

If you have any questions you should consult your instructor.

SALES

Admission sales totaled $200,000 for the fiscal year and 85% are cash. Thus 15% of the sales total needs to be debited to A/R and 85% of the sales total needs to be debited to cash, with 100% of sales being credited to the Sales account. So we calculate:

$$\begin{aligned} $200,000 \times 85\% &= $170,000 \\ $200,000 - $170,000 &= $30,000 \end{aligned}$$

Our journal entry is as follows:

|    |                     |                 |         |
|----|---------------------|-----------------|---------|
| DR | Cash                | 170,000         |         |
| DR | Accounts receivable | 30,000          |         |
|    | CR                  | Sales (tickets) | 200,000 |

We learn that A/R collections for the year are $30,000. A common error is to classify these as sales. The important thing to understand is that it relates to collection of A/R, meaning that the sales were recorded in the fiscal period the tours took place, and that this is a simple collection of an account. At a previous time a debit of A/R and credit of sales has already taken place, and this is simply the transfer of an outstanding bill to a customer into cash.

Our journal entry is as follows:

|    |      |                     |        |
|----|------|---------------------|--------|
| DR | Cash | 30,000              |        |
|    | CR   | Accounts receivable | 30,000 |

We also need to record cash sales of merchandise from their gift shop:

|    |      |                     |        |
|----|------|---------------------|--------|
| DR | Cash | 75,000              |        |
|    | CR   | Sales (maple items) | 75,000 |
