Services and the Green Economy Andrew

Jones, Patrik Ström, Brita Hermelin, Grete Rusten, 2016-05-04 Services and the Green Economy addresses a significant gap in the knowledge and understanding of sustainable economic development. Bringing together a range of expert contributions, the book analyses the role of services and service industries in the transition to a greener economy. Framed by an approach within environmental economic geography, chapters written by leading researchers from a range of disciplines explore how service industries, service firms and service activities are at heart of green economic processes. Adopting a global perspective, it includes research from the US, Europe, South America and Japan, providing a detailed insight into how the crucial role of service industry activity has often been ignored in current understandings of a green economic transition. Local and Regional Development

Andy Pike, Andrés Rodríguez-Pose, John Tomaney, 2016-07-15 Actors and institutions in localities and regions across the world are seeking prosperity and well-being amidst tumultuous and disruptive shifts and transitions generated by an increasingly globalised knowledge-intensive capitalism, global financial instability, volatility and crisis. Concerns about economic, social and ecological sustainability, climate change and resource shortages, new multi-actor and multi-level systems of government and governance and a re-ordering of the international political economy, state austerity and retrenchment and new and reformed approaches to intervention policy and institutions for local and regional development. Local and Regional Development provides an accessible critical and integrated examination of local and regional development theory, institutions and policy in this changing context. Amidst its rising importance, the book addresses the fundamental issues of what kind of local and regional development and for whom its purposes, principles and values, frameworks of understanding, approaches and interventions and integrated approaches to local and regional development throughout the world. The approach provides a theoretically informed critical analysis of contemporary local and regional development in an international and multi-disciplinary context grounded in concrete empirical analysis from experiences in the global North and South. It concludes by identifying what might constitute holistic, inclusive, progressive and sustainable local and regional development and reflecting upon its limits and political renewal. The Arctic Großraum

Christopher R. Rossi, 2025-09-04 How should the Arctic be viewed in the 21st century? In this book, a leading commentator assesses the competing players for the Arctic, looking at broad questions of governance and security. The author challenges the view that the Arctic is a passive space which is the focus of competitive advances from superpowers, arguing that it is more correctly understood as a dynamic pluriverse. Drawing on international law, international relations and diplomacy, this is an important re-assessment of the Arctic and its position in geo-politics. Measuring Welfare beyond Economics

Claudio O. Delang, Yi Hang Yu, 2015-06-26 Dissatisfaction with the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) as an indicator of a country's development or a population's wellbeing led to the development of the Genuine Progress Indicator (GPI). The GPI is an aggregate index of over 20 economic, social and environmental indicators and accounts for both the welfare benefits of economic growth and the social and environmental costs which accompany that economic growth. The result is better information about the level of welfare or well being of a country's population This book measures the GPI of Hong Kong and Singapore from 1968 to 2010 It finds that for both countries economic output as measured by the GDP has grown more than welfare as measured by the GPI but important differences are also found In Hong Kong the GPI has grown for the whole period under consideration while in Singapore the GPI has stalled from 1993 This is in line with most countries and is explained by the threshold hypothesis which states that beyond a certain level of economic development the benefits of further economic growth are outweighed by even higher environmental and social costs The book argues that the growth of Hong Kong's GPI is due to its favourable relationship with China and in particular its ability to export low wage jobs and polluting industries rather than successful domestic policies A stalling or shrinking GPI calls for alternative policies than the growth economy promoted by neoclassical economists and the book explores an alternative model that of the Steady State Economy SSE Rethinking Youth

Citizenship After the Age of Entitlement Lucas Walsh, Rosalyn Black, 2018-03-22 Rethinking Youth Citizenship After the Age of Entitlement provides a primer for exploring hard questions about how young people understand experience and enact their citizenship in uncertain times and about their senses of membership and belonging It examines how familiar modes of exclusion are compounded by punitive youth policies in ways that are concealed by neoliberal discourses It considers the role of key institutions in constructing young people's citizenship and looks at the ways in which some young people are opting out of established enactments of citizenship while creating new ones Critically reflecting on recent scholarly interest in the geographical relational affective and temporal dimensions of young people's experiences of citizenship it also reinvigorates the discussion about citizenship rights and entitlements and what these might mean for young people The book draws on global research and theories of citizenship but has a particular focus on Australia which provides a unique example of a country that has fared well economically yet is mimicking the austerity measures of the United Kingdom and Europe It concludes with an argument for a rethinking of citizenship which recognises young people's rights as citizens and the ways in which these interact with their lived experience at a time that has been characterised as the end of the age of entitlement

From Revolution to Chaos in Haiti (1804-2019) Rhodner J Orisma, 2020-01-13 Haiti is a failing state The country is still unable to provide basic needs such as employment food housing healthcare and education to a majority of its inhabitants in over two centuries after its revolution and Independence of 1804 Relatively incompetent both the nation's government and its opposition ignore moral politics and instead focus on corruption and fighting each other Though free from French rule the country remains tied to its slave past and violent history It seems like a socioeconomic and urban consensus cannot be achieved in order to carry out sustainable solutions for the people This book From Revolution to Chaos in Haiti 1804 2019 Urban Problems and Redevelopment Strategies is an attempt to analyze this situation from a historical perspective First the Haitian Revolution of 1804 is displayed to show the violent and bloody struggles of outstanding leaders and warriors against colonial powers for the making of a great political and independent nation Second Haiti's decline is analyzed starting from the assassination of its first leader Jean Jacques Dessalines in 1806 to the country's bottom rank in the global stratification during the 2010s along with the impact of the catastrophic 2010 earthquake. The main factors noted within this decline are linguistic agricultural urban and HIV AIDS TB healthcare issues and undercapitalization along with ideological confusions capitalism neoliberalism socialism social democracy and political instability

Globalization Development and Social Justice Ann El Khoury, 2015-03-27 Are there existing alternatives to corporate globalization? What are the prospects for and commonalities between communities and movements such as Occupy the World Social Forum and alternative economies? Globalization Development and Social Justice advances the proposition that another globalization is not only possible but already exists. It demonstrates that there are multiple pathways towards development with social justice and argues that enabling propositional agency rather than oppositional agency such as resistance is a more effective alternative to neoliberal globalization. El Khoury develops a theory of infraglobalization that emphasizes creative constitution not just contestation of global and local processes. The book features case studies and examples of diverse economic practice and innovative emergent political forms from the Global South and North. These case studies are located in the informal social economy and community development as well as everyday practices from prefigurative politics to community cooperatives and participatory planning. This book makes an important contribution to debates about the prospects for and practices of a transformative grassroots globalization and to critical debates about globalization and development strategies. It will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations globalization social movement studies political and economic geography sociology anthropology and development studies
