Ancient Perspectives Richard J. A. Talbert, 2014-02-14 Ancient Perspectives encompasses a vast arc of space and time Western Asia to North Africa and Europe from the third millennium BCE to the fifth century CE to explore mapmaking and worldviews in the ancient civilizations of Mesopotamia Egypt Greece and Rome In each society maps served as critical economic political and personal tools but there was little consistency in how and why they were made Much like today maps in antiquity meant very different things to different people Ancient Perspectives presents an ambitious fresh overview of cartography and its uses The seven chapters range from broad based analyses of mapping in Mesopotamia and Egypt to a close focus on Ptolemy's ideas for drawing a world map based on the theories of his Greek predecessors at Alexandria The remarkable accuracy of Mesopotamian city plans is revealed as is the creation of maps by Romans to support the proud claim that their emperor's rule was global in its reach By probing the instruments and techniques of both Greek and Roman surveyors one chapter seeks to uncover how their extraordinary planning of roads aqueducts and tunnels was achieved Even though none of these civilizations devised the means to measure time or distance with precision they still conceptualized their surroundings natural and man made near and far and felt the urge to record them by inventive means that this absorbing volume reinterprets and compares

Maps of the Ancient Sea Kings Charles H. Hapgood, 1966 Hapgood utilizes ancient maps as concrete evidence of an advanced worldwide civilization existing many thousands of years before ancient Egypt Hapgood concluded that these ancient mapmakers were in some ways much more advanced in mapmaking than any people prior to the 18th century Hapgood believes that they mapped all the continents This would mean that the Americas were mapped thousands of years before Columbus Antarctica would have been mapped when its coasts were free of ice Hapgood supposes that there is evidence that these people must have lived when the Ice Age had not yet ended in the

Northern Hemisphere and when Alaska was still connected with Siberia by the Pleistocene Ice Age land bridge

Advancement in Ancient Civilizations Harald Haarmann, 2020-09-21 Traditional scholarship on how ancient civilizations emerged is outmoded and new insights call for revision According to the well established paradigm Mesopotamia is considered the cradle of civilization Following the cliché of ex oriente lux light from the East all major achievements of humankind spread from the Middle East Modern archaeology cultural science and historical linguistics indicate civilizations did not originate from a single prototype Several models produced divergent patterns of advanced culture developing both hierarchical and egalitarian societies This study outlines a panorama of ancient civilizations including the still little known Danube civilization now identified as the oldest advanced culture in Europe In a comparative view a new paradigm of research and a new cultural chronology of civilizations in the Old and New Worlds emerges with climate change shown to be a continual influence on human lifeways
