Language Moderne Larchitecture Zevi Bruno:

The Modern Language Of Architecture Bruno Zevi, 1994-08-21 Frank Lloyd Wright called Bruno Zevi the most penetrating architectural critic of our time and one could ask for no better proof than Zevi's masterpiece The Modern Language of Architecture. In it Zevi sets forth seven principles or antirules to codify the new language of architecture created by Le Corbusier, Gropius, Mies van der Rohe and Wright. In place of the classical language of the Beaux Art school with its focus on abstract principles of order, proportion and symmetry, he presents an alternative system of communication characterized by a free interpretation of contents and function, an emphasis on difference and dissonance, a dynamic of multidimensional vision and independent interplay of elements, an organic marriage of engineering and design, a concept of living spaces that are designed for use and an integration of buildings into their surroundings. Anticipating the innovations of postmodern architecture, Zevi argues forcefully for complexity and against unity, for decomposition, dialogue between architecture and historiography, finding elements of the modern language of architecture throughout history and discussing the process of architectural innovation. Sumptuously illustrated and written in a clear, accessible manner, The Modern Language of Architecture will long remain one of the classics of architectural criticism and history. Le Langage moderne de l'architecture Bruno Zevi, 1991

Le langage moderne de l'architecture Bruno Zevi, 2016-02-18 The Historiography of Modern Architecture Panayotis Tournikiotis, 2001-02-27 The history of modern architecture as constructed by historians and key texts. Writing according to Panayotis Tournikiotis has always exerted a powerful influence on architecture. Indeed, the study of modern architecture cannot be separated from a fascination with the texts that have tried to explain the idea of a new architecture in a new society. During the last forty years, the question of the relationship of architecture to its history, of buildings to books, has been one of the most important themes in debates about the course of modern architecture. Tournikiotis argues that the history of modern architecture tends to be written from the present, projecting back onto the past our current concerns so that the beginning of the story really functions as a representation of its end. In this book, the buildings are the quotations while the texts are the structure. Tournikiotis focuses on a group of books by major historians of the twentieth century: Nikolaus Pevsner, Emil Kaufmann, Sigfried Giedion, Bruno Zevi, Leonardo Benevolo, Henry Russell Hitchcock, Reyner Banham, Peter Collins, and Manfredo Tafuri. In examining these writers' thoughts, he draws on concepts from critical theory relating architecture to broader historical models.

The Baroque in Architectural Culture, 1880-1980 Andrew Leach, John Macarthur, 2016-03-09 In his landmark volume Space Time and Architecture Sigfried Giedion paired images of two iconic spirals Tatlin's Monument to the Third International and Borromini's dome for Sant Ivo alla Sapienza The values shared between the baroque age and the modern were thus encapsulated on a single page spread As Giedion put it writing of Sant Ivo Borromini accomplished the movement of the whole pattern from the ground to the lantern without entirely ending even there And yet he merely groped towards that which could be completely effected in modern architecture achieving the transition between inner and outer space The intellectual debt of modern architecture to modernist historians who were ostensibly preoccupied with the art and architecture of earlier epochs is now widely acknowledged This volume extends this work by contributing to the dual projects of the intellectual history of modern architecture and the history of architectural historiography It considers the varied ways that historians of art and architecture have historicized modern architecture through its interaction with the baroque a term of contested historical and conceptual significance that has often seemed to shadow a greater contest over the historicity of modernism Presenting research by an international community of scholars this book explores through a series of cross sections the traffic of ideas between practice and history that has shaped modern architecture and the academic discipline of architectural history across the long twentieth century The editors use the historiography of the baroque as a lens through which to follow the path of modern ideas that draw authority from history In doing so the volume defines a role for the baroque in the history of architectural historiography and in the history of modern architectural culture
