Snow-What?

Snow is a type of precipitation that falls from the ground down clouds. It is formed when water vapor in the air condenses into tiny droplets. These droplets then freeze into ice crystals. The process of snow formation is a complex one, involving many factors, including temperature, humidity, and wind.

Snowfall is most common in the winter months, but it can also occur in other seasons. In some areas, snowfall is a rare occurrence. The amount of snow that falls in a given area can vary greatly, depending on the weather conditions at the time.

Snow is a beautiful sight, and it can be a fun activity to play in. However, it can also be a nuisance, especially if it falls in large amounts. Snow can make it difficult to travel and can cause power outages.
