The image shows the front cover of a COPM form. The cover is white with a red and orange border. The title "COPM" is prominently displayed in large black letters, with a red maple leaf icon integrated into the letter "O". Below the title, the text "Canadian Occupational Performance Measure" is written in a smaller font. The form includes a descriptive paragraph about the COPM, a list of its uses, and a section for client information. The descriptive paragraph states: "The Canadian Occupational Performance Measure (COPM) supports high-quality, client-centred, occupation-based practice. The COPM is an individualized measure designed to detect change in a client's self-perception of occupational performance over time. The COPM is intended for use as an outcome measure. As such, it should be administered at the beginning of a client's intervention, to establish baseline goals, and again at an appropriate interval thereafter to determine progress and outcome." The list of uses states: "The COPM is used to: identify problem areas in self-perceived occupational performance; provide a rating of the client's perception of occupational performance; evaluate performance and satisfaction relative to those problem areas; provide the basis for goal setting; and, measure changes in a client's perception of his/her occupational performance over the course of occupational therapy intervention." The client information section includes fields for "Client number", "Client date of birth", "Initial assessment", "Re-assessment", and "Therapist name".
