Language and the Rise of the Algorithm Jeffrey M. Binder, 2022-12-06 A wide ranging history of the algorithm Bringing together the histories of mathematics computer science and linguistic thought Language and the Rise of the Algorithm reveals how recent developments in artificial intelligence are reopening an issue that troubled mathematicians well before the computer age How do you draw the line between computational rules and the complexities of making systems comprehensible to people By attending to this question we come to see that the modern idea of the algorithm is implicated in a long history of attempts to maintain a disciplinary boundary separating technical knowledge from the languages people speak day to day Here Jeffrey M Binder offers a compelling tour of four visions of universal computation that addressed this issue in very different ways G W Leibniz's calculus ratiocinator a universal algebra scheme Nicolas de Condorcet designed during the French Revolution George Boole's nineteenth century logic system and the early programming language ALGOL short for algorithmic language These episodes show that symbolic computation has repeatedly become entangled in debates about the nature of communication Machine learning in its increasing dependence on words erodes the line between technical and everyday language revealing the urgent stakes underlying this boundary The idea of the algorithm is a levee holding back the social complexity of language and it is about to break This book is about the flood that inspired its construction

Social Robots in Education Georgios Lampropoulos, Stamatios Papadakis, 2025-05-03 This book focuses on recent advances in the field of social robots and their integration in education It elaborates on the progressive evolution of human robot interaction and educational robotics the emergence of digital pedagogy and the implementation of personalized learning methodologies The book also examines the use of artificial intelligence AI in education through the lenses of social robots Hence the book offers an overview of recent research into the adoption integration advancements and impact of social robots and AI in education and presents guidelines and suggestions on how to integrate them in classrooms Specifically the book Provides an in depth overview of social robots and their use in education Presents the advances of social robots and AI in education Showcases innovative solutions and outcomes of integrating social robots in classrooms Discusses the challenges benefits and future research directions of using social robots and AI in education

Computational Intelligence and Mathematical Applications Devendra Prasad, Suresh Chand Gupta, Anju Bhandari Gandhi, Stuti Mehla, Upasana Lakhina, 2024-08-29 It is with great pleasure to present the proceedings of the International Conference on Computational Intelligence and Mathematical Applications ICCIMA 2023 held on 21-22 December 2023 at Panipat Institute of Engineering and Technology Panipat. This conference brought scholars, researchers, professionals and intellectuals together from diverse fields to exchange ideas, share insights and foster collaborations in Optimization, Computational Intelligence and Mathematical Applications. The ICCIMA 2023 served as a platform for contributors to demonstrate their latest findings, discuss emerging trends and explore innovations to the problems that different disciplines are currently experiencing. The conference's scope and depth of themes reflect our community's rich diversity of interests and levels of competence.

Reaching Outward and Upward Ian MacPherson, 2012-06-01 As the year 2013 and the fiftieth anniversary of the University of Victoria approaches, Ian MacPherson offers a comprehensive history of one of Canada's most progressive and visually beautiful campuses. A reflection on the people, history and legacy of UVic, once known as Victoria College, a satellite of McGill University, Reaching Outward and Upward brings five decades of learning to life. From its beginnings in 1963 serving a mere handful of students in a hastily developed site, UVic has grown to become one of Canada's leading universities serving over 20,000 students on one of Canada's most stunning university campuses. Ian MacPherson examines how this transformation took place despite some difficult phases and all the challenges that accompany institutional transitions: the development of new faculties, growing student numbers, struggles over funding, equity issues and computerisation. He looks at the university's development during the presidencies of Howard Petch (1975-1990), David Strong (1990-2000) and David Turpin (2000-present) and suggests that new ways of knowing changed established disciplines and created new alliances among students and faculty and led to the creation of the numerous research centres for which UVic is well known. A visually rich book including pictures, quotations and sidebars, Reaching Outward and Upward is above all a story of the communities on campus, off campus, local, national, international, physical and electronic that together form the University of Victoria.

Disorder and the Disinformation Society Jonathan Paul Marshall, James Goodman, Didar Zowghi, Francesca da Rimini, 2015-04-17 This book is the first general social analysis that seriously considers the daily experience of information disruption and software failure within contemporary Western society. Through an investigation of informationalism defined as a contemporary form of capitalism, it describes the social processes producing informational disorder. While most social theory sees disorder as secondary, pathological or uninteresting, this book takes disordering processes as central to social life. The book engages with theories of information society which privilege information order, offering a strong counterpoint centred on disinformation. Disorder and the Disinformation Society offers a practical agenda, arguing that difficulties in producing software are both inherent to the process of developing software and in the social dynamics of informationalism. It outlines the dynamics of software failure as they impinge on information workers and on daily life, explores why computerized finance has become inherently self-disruptive, asks how digital enclosure and intellectual property create conflicts over cultural creativity and disrupt informational accuracy and scholarship and reveals how social media can extend but also distort the development of social movements

The European Commission, 1958-72 Michel Dumoulin, 2007 The ink on the Treaties of Rome of 25 March 1957 was hardly dry when the Commission set itself up for business on 1 January 1958 in Brussels with an agenda covering all areas of the economic life of the six founder countries Germany France Italy and the three Benelux countries of Belgium Luxembourg and the Netherlands The 15 year period from 1958 to 1972 covered by this work corresponds to the beginnings of the European Commission whose first task was to come up with practical means of achieving the treaties main objective the establishment of a common market taking as its point of departure the general interest of the entire Community of six Member States Forged by men and women with often very different backgrounds the history of the first few years is one of crises but also of achievements which shaped the major milestones of European integration in almost every area Imagination long term vision enthusiasm and tenacity seem to have been the great virtues of the people working for the young European institution at that time By piecing together over a number of years the recollections of former Commission officials a consortium of university teachers under the direction of Professor Michel Dumoulin of the Catholic University of Louvain at Louvain la Neuve has at last made it possible to tell the story of what happened during those early days This is a new edition of the book originally published in 2007 A similar project has since resulted in the publication of a book about the history of the Commission between 1973 and 1986 Editor Writing Framework for the 2011 National Assessment of Educational Progress United States.
