Chapter 6: Thermochemistry

6.2 - Enthalpy and Calorimetry

Enthalpy

$$H = E + PV$$

For a chemical reaction, enthalpy change is given by the equation

$$\Delta H = H_{\text{products}} - H_{\text{reactants}}$$

Products of a reaction have a greater enthalpy ( $\Delta H$ ):

- $\Delta H$  is positive
- heat is absorbed by the system (endothermic reaction)

Reactants of a reaction have a greater enthalpy ( $\Delta H$ ):

- $\Delta H$  is negative
- heat is released by the system (exothermic reaction)

Calorimetry

Constant-pressure calorimetry

change in enthalpy = change in heat

$$\Delta H = q_p$$

Williams, 1997 Textbook outlining concepts of molecular science      Mastering Chemistry Jason Chin, Vault Reports (Firm), Job Vault, 1998 The periodic table never looked so good From the properties of matter and mole calculations to the kinetics of reactions and enthalpy change this guide demystifies the complexities of chemistry through easy to follow charts graphs and sample problems      Chemistry: The Central Science Theodore L. Brown, H. Eugene LeMay Jr., Bruce E. Bursten, Catherine Murphy, Patrick Woodward, Steven Langford, Dalius Sagatys, Adrian George, 2013-10-04 If you think you know the Brown LeMay Bursten Chemistry text think again In response to market request we have created the third Australian edition of the US bestseller Chemistry The Central Science An extensive revision has taken this text to new heights Triple checked for scientific accuracy and consistency this edition is a more seamless and cohesive product yet retains the clarity innovative pedagogy functional problem solving and visuals of the previous version All artwork and images are now consistent in quality across the entire text And with a more traditional and logical organisation of the Organic Chemistry content this comprehensive text is the source of all the information and practice problems students are likely to need for conceptual understanding development of problem solving skills reference and test preparation      The Emotionally Agile Brain J.D. Pincus, 2024-12-17 A revolution has been quietly taking place in academic psychology economics neuroscience marketing and business In study after study emotional forces massively outweigh human rationality in determining our actual choices and actions This insight has reshaped both science and industry as its power is harnessed for commercial ends Those of us who are engaged in the nexus of neuroscience psychology and human potential have an obligation to raise awareness of these discoveries and more importantly to use them to actually improve people's lives AgileBrain is based on decades of psychological research conducted by the author and others published in peer reviewed academic journals It begins with the discovery of the first principles of all human motivation Motivation is fundamentally about change These principles can be phrased as two questions Where in your life do you wish to make a change To answer this question we can choose from four life domains the Self the Social the Material and the Spiritual Note that these represent pairs of opposites Self vs Social Material vs Spiritual What kind of change do you wish to make To answer this question we can choose from Aristotle's three levels of existence foundational being experiential doing and aspirational having The answers to these two questions form a Periodic Table of the Elements for human motivations in the form of a three by four matrix Because there are no other possible life domains or levels of aspiration the reader can have confidence that every possible human motivation is accounted for A key takeaway is that all twelve emotional needs are operating and directing us all the time and that a key to a happy actualized life is to pursue fulfillment of needs in a balanced way which avoids serious problems associated with unbalanced need fulfillment A recurring theme in The Emotionally Agile Brain is the value of distinguishing between authentic need fulfillment and the superficial inauthentic substitutes offered by our consumer culture After analyzing motivational data from hundreds of thousands of individuals and consulting to scores of Fortune 500 clients author J D Pincus explains it this way Everyone has a unique fingerprint of emotional needs at any given moment in time Becoming aware of that motivational state is a profound revelation for most people It cuts right through the noise and distractions of life and frees them to pursue what they really want Modern University Chemistry, Custom
