documents make Booth Olson's book readable, interesting, relevant, and real life. These visuals from actual students help transform her ideas from theory into practice. Kathy Bussert Webb, The University of Texas at Brownsville. This is the only secondary text that I have found to explain and provide authentic examples of reading/writing workshop process. The activities are practical and motivating. Hurray for Olson! Donna Uebler Bradley, University of North Carolina. Now in its second edition, The Reading/Writing Connection features an array of individual reading and writing strategies, activities, and mini-lessons that teachers can implement in their classrooms. Well-respected author Carol Booth Olson extends far beyond most books intended for teachers of language arts by integrating reading and writing in creative, theory-based ways. Lauded by students and professors as a clear and straightforward text, this revised and updated edition includes plenty of material about teaching the writing process and responding to literature and provides examples of lessons that help readers learn specific strategies. Unique in its field, The Reading/Writing Connection provides student models at middle and high school levels in almost every chapter, illustrating actual student responses to reading and writing activities. The text is also rich with literary selections, giving teachers easy access to the literature featured in the activities and demonstration lessons. Features New to the Second Edition: Extensive coverage of differentiated instruction for English Language Learners; A new chapter entitled "Introducing Students to the Cognitive Strategies in Their Mental Tool Kits" that summarizes and clarifies students' use of cognitive strategies in their thinking; An extensive and revised companion website that features reading and writing rubrics, student models, blackline masters of graphic organizers, and much more, available at www.ablongman.com/olson2e. Educational Times, 1999. Education Outlook, 1898. EL-Hi Textbooks and Serials in Print, 2003. Current Index to Journals in Education, 2000. British Books in Print, 1967. Instructor's Manual to Accompany Literature for Composition. Morton Berman, William Burto, 1984. Arts & Humanities Citation Index, 1981. A multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and humanities. It fully covers 1,144 of the world's leading arts and humanities journals and indexes individually selected relevant items from over 6,800 major science and social science journals. Judith Ortiz Cofer in the Classroom. Carol Jago, 2006. Carol Jago offers ways to teach the works of Judith Ortiz Cofer in the high school English classroom. In an era of increasing emphasis on standardized testing, it can be difficult to add the works of new authors to the high school English curriculum. But what if reading the poetry and fiction of Judith Ortiz Cofer or the writing of other multicultural authors engaged your students in such deep reading and writing that their scores went through the roof? In this practical guide, Carol Jago argues that the curriculum should embrace all kinds of literature because such a curriculum keeps students both engaged and challenged. The writing of Puerto Rican American poet, essayist, and novelist Judith Ortiz Cofer appeals to students of all ethnicities because it speaks to a universal effort to balance the demands of self, home, and broader culture. This short, readable, and practical guide to teaching her work includes several of Cofer's poems, many examples of student writing, some modeled on Cofer's poetry and some in response to her fiction, guidance on standards based literary analysis a rubric for evaluating the reflective essay and an interview with Cofer by Ren e Shea Writing like Cofer s which reflects students lives no matter what their primary culture draws adolescents into literature and pushes them outside the zone of minimal effort as they more willingly develop their reading writing and critical thinking skills
