1 Connecting the Wireless-G Access Point

A. Locate an optimum location for the Access Point. The best place for the Access Point is usually at the center of your wireless network, with line of sight to all of your mobile stations.

B. Fix the direction of the antennas. Try to place it in a position that can best cover your wireless network. Normally, the higher you place the antenna, the better the performance will be. The antenna's position enhances the receiving sensitivity. Both antennas should be perpendicular to the ground and parallel to each other.

C. Connect the included Category 5 Ethernet network cable to the Access Point. Then connect the other end of the network cable to a switch or hub. The Access Point will then be connected to your 10/100 network.

D. Connect the AC power adapter to the Access Point's Power port. Only use the power adapter supplied with the Access Point. Use of a different adapter may result in product damage.

Proceed to Step 2.

Note: Be aware that all radios transmit data to communicate with their Access Point. Nearer devices cause the operating or communications speeds. If your wireless devices are configured to use their maximum speeds, then WEP is not supported by the Access Point.

2 Setting Up the Wireless-G Access Point

Now that you've connected the Access Point to your wired network, you are ready to begin setting it up. The Setup Wizard will take you through all the steps necessary to get the Access Point connecting your wireless network to your wired network and communicating more efficiently.

Note: While the Access Point has been designed to work correctly right out of the box, setting it up on a wireless-equipped computer will require you to use the Linksys default settings. These settings can then be changed through the Web-based Utility. (See more details under the Use Common sense Setup Wizard CD-ROM.)

A. Insert the Setup Wizard CD into your PC's CD-ROM drive. Optionally, your PC should be on your wired network.

B. The Welcome screen should appear on your monitor. If it does not, then browse the exercise a. and then browse. Start the exercise more easily by clicking the Next button, select my Name, and clicking Browse... and "D" is your PC's CD-ROM drive. Then click the Setup button.
