Annual Report Ohio. Office of Litter Control, 1984 Clean Nordic Oceans main report - a network to reduce marine litter and ghost fishing Langedal, Gjermund, Aarbakke, Bård, Larsen, Finn, Stadig, Charlotta, 2020-03-25 Available online <https://pub.norden.org/temanord2020/509/Abstract/en> Clean Nordic Oceans was established as a network to exchange knowledge and experience of methods and measures that can reduce the risk of ghost fishing and marine litter and increase proper disposal and recycling of commercial and recreational fishing gear All Nordic countries have participated in the network Through a dedicated website www.cnogear.org workshops seminars conferences films and social media this project has helped to establish contacts both inside and outside the Nordic region which can help reduce the challenges of marine litter from fishing activities Among the numerous important findings that have been made over the course of the project the report points out that fishermen in all the Nordic countries lack sufficient awareness of how they can and should contribute to a cleaner ocean The report proposes a number of possible measures Some of the measures may be suitable for all countries but in general there is no one size fits all solution

Annual Report Ohio. Office of Litter Prevention & Recycling, 1985 From Principles to Practice in Education for Intercultural Citizenship Michael Byram, Irina Golubeva, Han Hui, Manuela Wagner, 2016-11-01 The contributors to this volume have collaborated to present their work on introducing competences in intercultural communication and citizenship into foreign language education The book examines how learners and teachers think about citizenship and interculturality and shows how teachers and researchers from primary to university education can work together across continents to develop new curricula and pedagogy This involves the creation of a new theory of intercultural citizenship and a procedure for implementation The book is written by teacher researchers who aim to help other teachers and concludes with reflections on the lessons they have learnt which will help others to implement these ideas in their own practice The book is essential reading for foreign language educators and researchers students in pre service teacher training and teachers in in service training

Marine litter in Nordic small islands Sæmundsdóttir, Sigurbjörg, 2021-10-18 Available online <https://pub.norden.org/temanord2021/544> Plastic pollution in the world's oceans is one of modern times biggest challenges NGOs and volunteers all over the Nordics are fighting marine litter through organised clean up actions This project was designed to assist NGOs in the Nordic small states in their participation of combating marine litter The report is giving an insight to the interconnectedness between Nordic states working with marine litter and consists of extensive information collected from the four small island states to facilitate an exchange of knowledge between them The information was collected during workshops where the main aim was to facilitate cooperation between the small island states by facilitating experience and knowledge sharing The workshops also aimed to look at the challenges faced by the small island states and put forward short and long term solutions to the main challenges

Plug the marine litter tap Blidberg, Eva ,Leander, Elin ,2017-03-13 Marine litter is a growing environmental problem where especially plastic material is accumulated in the seas where it will fragment to smaller pieces The purpose of the presented pilot study is to raise awareness amongst officials at municipalities and authorities about the need to reduce the presence of litter in the marine environment and to give ideas suggestions on how this can be done The project has therefore developed a Plug the Marine Litter Tap approach which together with local knowledge and experience can be used to identify sources of marine debris by using existing statistics S dert lje is used as a pilot area where we give examples on indicators for marine litter in the urban environment and proposed measures for each indicator We hope that this will encourage municipalities to reflect on how preventive measures against marine litter can be incorporated in local waste management plans and become part of their regular routine

Reducing Litter on Roadsides Gerry John Forbes, 2009 The report provides information concerning the prevention and removal of roadside litter unfulfilled needs knowledge gaps and underperforming activities It covers enforcement education awareness and engineering methods for both litter prevention and collection The synthesis focuses on state DOT personnel involved in roadside litter prevention and their contractors who conduct litter prevention and removal programs Also as roadside litter prevention appears to be a multiple stakeholder activity policy makers and practitioners from other government agencies and environmental organizations as well as groups and volunteers may be interested in this synthesis Pref
