

Maths Outdoor Trails

The following pages provide examples of maths trail questions and activities.

Maths trails not only help children improve their maths skills but also provide opportunities to be more observant, collaborative, independent and thoughtful about their immediate environment.

Learning outdoors should be a fundamental part of every child's experience and there is a great deal of evidence to demonstrate the positive impact of learning outside the classroom.

The first six pages in this section of the book provide 20 generic ideas covering a range of mathematical concepts – of varying levels of difficulty.

The second section has a page per year group - more specifically targeted in terms of ability and linked to the new curriculum. However, these can also be easily adapted for your children.

On the Thinking Child website – in the Free Downloads Section – you will be able to access these pages in Word format, so you can change and adapt them to suit your own outdoor space(s) and children's stage of development.

If you have ideas for maths trails to share with other schools, please feel free to send them into us at info@thinkingchild.org.uk

We will add them to the free download section on the site: www.thinkingchild.org.uk
– with full acknowledgements of course.
