Lad Albert Payson Terhune, 2012-06 I generally hate cliches like kids of all ages but it just really suits this book I first discovered Albert Payson Terhune and Lad in seventh grade much to the chagrin of our school librarian She had to eventually temporarily ban me from checking the book out any further so that other kids could read it In those days I did not realize I was reading about a long dead author and the most famous of his dogs nor did I realize that the stories actually were taking place in the early part of the 20th century None of that mattered to me then or now for the matter I was drawn into the world of Lad and Terhune every time I opened those pages Eventually I managed to read most of his works and came to truly admire Terhune's writing even though I have since read that he considered himself to be a hack Its now many years later and there is still magic in these books for me I have several of the books waiting for the day my very young daughters a two year old and a four year old are ready to read books that dont have pictures on every page In fact Ive got a backlog of books I want to share with them but Im willing to bet we start with Lad If your children have any interest in animals in general or dogs in particular you must get this book and all of Terhunes other works if you can find them for your children Sure the language may be a little strange at times but your child will still love this book all the same Lad a Dog Albert Payson Terhune,2018-08-17 Lad A Dog By Albert Payson Terhune Recounts the heroic and adventurous life of a thoroughbred collie that was particularly devoted to his owners We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience understanding Continent Lad Albert Payson Terhune, 2017-10-11 Lad A Dog is a 1919 American novel written by Albert Payson Terhune and published by E P Dutton. Composed of twelve short stories first published in magazines, the novel is based on the life of Terhune's real-life rough collie Lad. Born in 1902, the real-life Lad was an unregistered collie of unknown lineage originally owned by Terhune's father. Lad's death in 1918 was mourned by many of the story's fans, particularly children. Through the stories of Lad's adventures, Terhune expresses his views on parenting, obtaining perfect obedience without force, and the nature and rights of the well-bred Terhune. He began writing the stories in 1915 at the suggestion of his Red Book Magazine editor. They gained in popularity, and as Terhune was under contractual obligation to submit something to Doubleday Page, he collected them into novel form. After Doubleday rejected the novel, he solicited other publishers until it was picked up by Dutton. After a slow start, the novel became a best seller in the adult fiction and children's fiction markets, having been repositioned as a young adult novel by Grosset and Dunlap in the 1960s and 1970s. Selling over one million copies, it is Terhune's best-selling work and the one that propelled him to fame. It has been reprinted over 70 times by Dutton and republished by a variety of publishers since its original release, including at least six international translations. Contemporaneous critics praised Terhune's writing style and the overall story appeal, while dog breeders criticized his unrealistic canine characters. In retrospective reviews, critics considered that the novel had aged badly and that Terhune displayed little actual writing skill, but noted that the novel was able to hold long-lasting appeal as it triggered the reader's desire to have such an ideal dog. Terhune himself considered the novel hack writing and did not understand why it was so popular. Because of its reception, he went on to publish two additional novels featuring Lad, and one featuring Lad's son Wolf, as well as many other fictional stories featuring dogs. Warner Brothers released a film adaptation in June 1962. A series of four children's picture books based on three of the stories from the novel were published by Margo Lundell between 1997 and 1998.

Albert Payson Terhune (December 21, 1872 – February 18, 1942) was an American author, dog breeder, and journalist. The public knows him best for his novels relating the adventures of his beloved collies and as a breeder of collies at his Sunnybank Kennels, the lines of which still exist in today's Rough Collies. Albert Payson Terhune was born in New Jersey to Mary Virginia Hawes and the Reverend Edward Payson Terhune. His mother, Mary Virginia Hawes, was a writer of household management books and pre-Civil War novels under the name Marion Harland. Terhune had four sisters and one brother, though only two of his sisters lived to be adults: Christine Terhune Herrick (1859–1944) and Virginia Terhune Van De Water (1865–1945). Sunnybank, 41 0012N 74 2755W, was originally the family's summer home, with Terhune making it his permanent residence in 1912. He was educated at Columbia University, where he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1893. From 1894 to 1916, he worked as a reporter for The Evening World. He boxed exhibition matches with James J. Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, and James J. Jeffries. His Sunnybank Kennels, where he bred and raised rough collies, were the most famed collie kennels in the U.S.
