

Literary Theory Graphic Organizer

Hamlet III.IV.

Theory	Evidence from the text (including parenthetical citation)	Analysis (What does this theory reveal about the text that you might not otherwise notice?)
Reader Response	- Hamlet has obvious emotional turmoil, as shown by his extreme outbursts (killing Polonius). He grieves over his father and struggles to return to reality (seeing ghosts). - Gertrude has very conflicted loyalties, between the love for her son and her new husband. She struggles to defend her husband; it seems as though she is willing to ruin her relationship with Hamlet. - Claudius seems to be manipulative. His absence from the scene and his decision to spy on the two through a servant could demonstrate his willingness to sacrifice others for his personal goals.	In act III, scene IV of Hamlet, Hamlet confronts his mother about her marriage to her dead husband's brother. His passionate outbursts and reckless decisions (i.e. Killing Polonius) show his grief for his father and the struggle to remain in reality, as well as the hallucination of his father's ghost. Gertrude, during the fight, does not necessarily fight back, but rather defends her husband, further ruining the relationship between mother and son. She seems to have a hard time with confrontation and hold genuine concern for her son. Claudius, the husband, can be seen as manipulative and cold. He is not present for the conflict to defend his wife, and instead sends Polonius to spy, getting him killed. It shows his blatant disrespect for other people, and his willingness to sacrifice others for his personal goals.
Feminist	- Even though Gertrude is the queen and the mother, giving her a theoretical upper hand in the argument, she is still controlled and marginalized by her son. - Hamlet is very fixed on her sexuality and her sexual activities, including marriage and sex, can reflect towards the objectivity of women and the importance of their innocence. - Gertrude returns Hamlet's accusations with little words, potentially symbolizing the silencing of women throughout history.	Gertrude's silence and persecution throughout the scene is remnant to the marginalization and suffering of women throughout history, especially considering that she, theoretically, should be the one in power (her being the queen and Hamlet's mother). This can demonstrate how women are viewed as lesser than men, solely due to their gender. In addition, Hamlet consistently shows an obsession over the sexual activities of his mother, and her second marriage. This is a reference to the objective and sexual lens that women are placed under, seen only for their sexual purity and chastity/
Post-colonial	- Claudius, using the more powerful role in this dynamic, seems to frequently assert his dominance.	Claudius, embodying a colonizing role, asserts his dominance over Hamlet and Gertrude by spying on them, controlling than the young adult text being only an extension of the canonical Within each volume the chapters are organized chronologically according to the publication date of the canonical text The pairings offered in this collection allow for comparisons in some cases for extensions in others and for critique in all Volume 2 covers The Canterbury Tales 1392 through Fallen Angels 1988 Graphic Organizer for Active Readers Herw,Holt, Rinehart and Winston Staff,1999-05
