A Novel Idea Randee Lipson Lawrence, Patricia Cranton, 2015-06-25 Lawrence and Cranton present a unique research methodology involving fictional characters as research participants Transformative learning themes are identified through a content analysis of six contemporary novels The characters from these novels are invited to come to a virtual space the Butterfly Caf where they engage in a series of dialogues on the research themes related to their transformative learning experiences Each of the dialogues is followed by a debriefing session to deepen the understanding of the original themes Readers are given a window into Lawrence and Cranton's analysis and interpretive process as they engage in dialogue with Celie from the Color Purple Macon from Accidental Tourist Mariam and Laila from A Thousand Splendid Suns and others The dialogues become a story within the stories told in the novels The end product is the introduction of a new model of transformative learning based on a metaphor of planting cultivating and growing seeds Central to the model is becoming conscious a process that appeared in each of the novels Readers will find insights into transformative learning that are outside of the standard academic treatment of the topic Moving the research into the realm of fiction provides the opportunity for a creative exploration of transformative learning Yet since fiction inevitably mirrors reality readers will be able to relate the analysis the dialogues and the ensuing model to their own lives and to their adult education practice

Rebuilding Community Shenila Khoja-Moolji, 2023 Over the course of the twentieth century Shia Ismaili Muslim communities were repeatedly displaced How in the aftermath of these displacements did they remake their communities Shenila Khoja Moolji highlights women's critical role in this rebuilding process and breaks new ground by writing women into modern Ismaili history Rebuilding Community tells the story of how Ismaili Muslim women who fled East Pakistan and East Africa in the 1970s recreated religious community jamat in North America Drawing on oral histories fieldwork and memory texts Khoja Moolji illuminates the placemaking activities through which Ismaili women reproduce bonds of spiritual kinship from cooking for congregants on feast days and looking after sick coreligionists to engaging in memory work through miracle stories and cookbooks Khoja Moolji situates these activities within the framework of ethical norms that more broadly define and sustain the Ismaili sociality Jamat and religious community more generally is not a given but an ethical relation that is maintained daily and intergenerationally through everyday acts of care By emphasizing women s care work in producing relationality and repairing trauma Khoja Moolji disrupts the conventional articulation of displaced people as dependent subjects
