La Distribution De La Libido:

Assassination of experience by painting, Monory Jean-François Lyotard, 2013 Lyotard met Jacques Monory in 1972 and the text on him published at that time was the first that Lyotard dedicated to contemporary art since Discourse Figure Lyotard's interest in the plastic arts thus fits fully within the setting of his political preoccupations The artist protagonist stages the recurring motifs that fascinate Lyotard the scene of the crime the revolver the woman the victim glaciers deserts stars The atmosphere of the essays on Monory is Californian Monory's imaginary repertoire goes well beyond the masters of modernity and is in line rather with a modern contemporary surrealism Both Lyotard and Monory live the dilemma of Americanization the America represented by cinema fashion novels music It is in this atmosphere that Lyotard and Monory will finally evoke their supreme experience of difference desire and fear exultation and a profound malaise The plastic universe of Monory and the aesthetic meditations of Lyotard are in perfect symbiosis Sarah Wilson's epilogue thoroughly outlines both the history of a friendship and at the same time the intellectual and artistic climate of the 1970s

Quelles distinctions métapsychologiques pourront être faites entre les délires de fin du monde où le monde entier qui disparaît sous la douleur est le signe avant-coureur d'un effondrement et les rêves de fin du monde. Ces rêves sont-ils traumatiques ou réalisateurs de désir de destruction. À partir de la notion de désinvestissement, il s'agira ici de filer les destins de cette libido désinvestie, énergie libre en stase, source d'angoisse de désunion, des pulsions et de destructivité, mais aussi de sublimation. *XXIII Congreso Psicanalitico Internacional, Español ; Castillan D.
