 arts to the various branches of history and social studies will find this study timely given contemporary European controversies over what constitutes national identity and what parts are played by race philosophy and religion economics immigration and invasion Many major European national identities barely predate the nineteenth century and were shaped not just by wars philosophies industrial change and governmental policies but also by artistic manipulation of how people perceived public spaces landscapes cityscapes religious and cultural structures museums and monuments commemorating conflict Among the most masterful manipulators of the day were popular nineteenth century French and British novelists who gave famous buildings a special prominence in their writing Some like Victor Hugo are still read and respected by scholars Others like Alexandre Dumas though still widely read are undervalued by contemporary critics Still others like William Harrison Ainsworth a prolific English writer are all but forgotten These three writers authored architectural novels which gave major ancient Gothic buildings a new and portable cultural presence well beyond their physical location During these revolutionary times when national symbolism was being questioned and challenged the threatened rupture with the past was admirably addressed through their art Le Comte de Monte-Cristo Alexandre Dumas,2020-08-23 On the day of his
