Le C De Natzweilerstruthof:

Nazi Camps and Their Neighbouring Communities Helen J. Whatmore-Thomson, 2020 Nazi concentration camps were built close to local populations all across Europe These nearby communities were involved with the camps in a myriad of ways and after the war they continued to interact with camp legacies This study examines locality camp relationships and how these played out during and after the war

Victims and Survivors of Nazi Human Experiments Paul Weindling, 2014-12-18 While the coerced human experiments are notorious among all the atrocities under National Socialism they have been marginalised by mainstream historians This book seeks to remedy the marginalisation and to place the experiments in the context of the broad history of National Socialism and the Holocaust Paul Weindling bases this study on the reconstruction of a victim group through individual victims life histories and by weaving the victims experiences collectively together in terms of different groupings especially gender ethnicity and religion age and nationality The timing of the experiments where they occurred how many victims there were and who they were is analysed as are hitherto under researched aspects such as Nazi anatomy and executions The experiments are also linked more broadly to major elements in the dynamic and fluid Nazi power structure and the implementation of racial policies The approach is informed by social history from below exploring both the rationales and motives of perpetrators but assessing these critically in the light of victim narratives
