Guide to Fluorescence Literature Richard A. Passwater, 2012-12-06. The major reason for presenting a bibliography of ultraviolet light or which make only a casual graphy on fluorescence and phosphorescence reference to the fluorescence technique were can be summed up in one statement: A recent usually rejected. However, occasionally survey showed that twenty-two percent of all papers of this nature were included because chemical and clinical research was unintentionally duplicated. A comprehensive source potential for the problems discussed. Again, if pertinent papers were missed, the authors' book of fluorescence and phosphorescence would be grateful to have these omissions. Techniques are therefore needed not only to suggest ideas for future research but to help call to their attention. The abbreviations of journal names decrease needless duplication and expense. Employed in this Guide are those used by and thus to promote the development of both disciplines. Chemical Abstracts. Each paper has been reviewed. The authors hope that researchers new given an alpha numerical identification. Section A contains papers published in the years 1950-1953, section B the years 1954-1956, data which otherwise could be found only by section C the years 1957-1959, and section reviewing dozens of papers many difficult to find. The years 1960-1964. Section E contains findings and that old hands will find its valuable papers missed in the original compilation.
