Modern Biology Albert Towle, 1989 Modern Biology James Howard Otto, 1985 Biology a Guide to the Natural World David Krogh, Laurel Robeerts, 2002 Converging, Emerging, Innovative, Disruptive, and Critical Technologies for Modern and Future Warfare Prof. Dr. Jai Paul Dudeja, 2025-02-22 Today's and Tomorrow's wars are not guaranteed to be won by yesterday's technologies. To enhance the chances of achieving victories in the modern and future wars, the nations have to embrace converging, emerging, innovative, disruptive, and critical technologies and new strategies. Besides the interested general readers across the globe who wish to have a grasp of the converging, emerging, innovative, disruptive, and critical technologies and new strategies for the modern and future warfare, this comprehensive book can also be used as a Reference Book in Warfare Technologies by the researchers, Governments, and Military technologies-related agencies.

Research Methods in Human Skeletal Biology Elizabeth A. DiGangi, Megan K. Moore, 2012-09-25 Research Methods in Human Skeletal Biology serves as the one location readers can go to not only learn how to conduct research in general but how research is specifically conducted within human skeletal biology. It outlines the current types of research being conducted within each sub-specialty of skeletal biology and gives the reader the tools to set up a research project in skeletal biology. It also suggests several ideas for potential projects. Each chapter has an inclusive bibliography which can serve as a good jumpstart for project references. Provides a step-by-step guide to conducting research in human skeletal biology. Covers diverse topics: sexing, aging, stature, and ancestry estimation and new technologies: histology, medical imaging, and geometric morphometrics. Excellent accompaniment to existing forensic anthropology or osteology works.

A Cultural History of Race in the Renaissance and Early Modern Age Kimberly Ann Coles, Dorothy Kim, 2023-06-01 The past is always an interpretive act from the lens of the present. Through the lens of critical race theory, the essays collected here explore new analytical models, theoretical frameworks, and methodological approaches in attempting to reimagine the European Renaissance and early modern periods in terms of global expansion, awareness, and participation. Centering race in these periods requires that we acknowledge the people against whom social hierarchies and differential treatment were directed. This collection takes Europe as its focus, but White Europeans are not centred in it, and the experiences of Black Africans, Asians, Jews, and Muslims are not relegated to the margins of a shared history. Situating Europe within a global context forces the reconsideration of the violence that attends the interaction of peoples both across cultures and enmeshed within them. The less we are attentive to the cultural interactions cross cultural migrations and global dimensions of the late medieval and early modern periods the less we are forced to recognize the violence intolerance power struggles and enforced suppressions that attend them
