

MACROECONOMICS CHAPTER 1 EXAM

2025 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

What is scarcity - ANS ☒ Scarcity means human wants for goods and services exceed the available supply.

2 causes of scarcity - ANS ☒ Supply is limited because resources are limited. Demand, however, is virtually unlimited. Whatever the supply, it seems human nature to want more.

Residents of the town of Smitheld like to consume hams, but each ham requires 10 people to produce it and takes a month. If the town has a total of 100 people, what is the maximum amount of ham the residents can consume in a month? - ANS ☒ 100 people / 10 people per ham = a maximum of 10 hams per month if all residents produce ham. Since consumption is limited by production, the maximum number of hams residents could consume per month is 10.

A consultant works for $200 per hour. She likes to eat vegetables, but is not very good at growing them. Why does it make more economic sense for her to spend her time at the consulting job and shop for her vegetables? - ANS ☒ She is very productive at her consulting job, but not very productive growing vegetables. Time spent consulting would produce far more income than what she could save growing her own vegetables using the same amount of time. So on purely economic grounds, it makes more sense for her to maximize her income by applying her labor to what she does best. In other words, she should specialize in consulting, and use the income she earns to buy the vegetables she needs.

A computer systems engineer could paint his house, but it makes more sense for him to hire a painter to do it. Explain why. - ANS ☒ The engineer is better at computer science than at painting. Thus, his time is better spent working for pay at his job and paying a painter to paint his house. Of course, this assumes he does not paint his house for fun!
