Makerere University Masters Programmes 2015:

Research Universities in Africa Cloete, Nico, Bunting, Ian, 2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa

Education Research in African Contexts Paul Webb, Mathabo Khau, Proscovia Namubiru Ssentamu, 2024-12-08 This compelling anthology illuminates the transformative role of education research in Africa presenting a bricolage of studies by scholarship holders of the East and South African German Centre of Excellence for Educational Research Methodologies and Management CERM ESA Bridging insights from these two regions the book examines the vital intersections between education society and culture with a focus on fostering sustainable educational reform and empowering local communities At the heart of the book is a shared commitment to evolving higher education in Africa through collaborative context sensitive research Anchored by the partnership of five universities across two continents CERM ESA's initiatives support capacity building and innovation in African educational contexts working directly with schools communities and policymakers to address the unique challenges of the continent With themes ranging from indigenous methodologies and climate change education to gender equity and academic resilience the chapters showcase diverse and locally relevant approaches that inform and inspire change across educational sectors Targeted toward education researchers policymakers and practitioners invested in African development Education Research in African Contexts offers an in depth exploration of educational methodologies that honour traditions while embracing progressive change The book provides invaluable insights for educators and leaders seeking to support responsive impactful education systems Through critical reflection and innovative research the volume reimagines educational paradigms that respect African realities encouraging readers to explore new possibilities for inclusive and transformative research Makerere University Strategic Plan, 2008/09-2018/19
