Making Sustainability Work Marc J. Epstein, Adriana Rejc Buhovac, 2014-04-02 Now completely updated Making Sustainability Work is the bible for applying real metrics and best practices to the often nebulous realm of business sustainability Mark Epstein and Adriana Rejc Buhovac provide concrete tools for measuring and increasing social and environmental impacts in a manner that businesses can understand and put to real use The Step-by-Step Guide to Sustainability Planning Darcy Hitchcock, Marsha Willard, 2012-05-04 Sustainability is now the greatest business imperative yet how do you actually develop and implement a sustainability plan if you aren't an expert From the authors of the award winning handbook The Business Guide to Sustainability comes this highly practical guide to designing and implementing a customized sustainability plan in any business organization or government department of any type and scale This step by step guide explains how to create a sustainability plan and sustainability report Each chapter has two vital sections The first contains background reading tips and case examples to help you be successful The second presents a set of methods each with step by step instructions and a selection matrix to help choose the best methods The book also contains sample worksheets and exercise materials that can be copied for organization wide use Caring for Corporate Sustainability Maria Eidenskog, 2015-04-15 Corporate sustainability comes in a variety of shapes and the boundaries defining what can be called sustainability are disputed This thesis explores the making of sustainability at a medium sized company in Sweden in this study called HygieneTech that actively works with sustainability Inspired by theories from science and technology studies STS the author discusses how different versions of sustainability are created in practices The study is based on a theoretical approach actor network theory ANT which understands reality as performed rather than observed and since reality and its objects are enacted differently in diverse situations reality and objects are considered multiple Moreover inspired by Maria Puig de la Bellacasa thinking with care enables the study to tell new stories about how companies work with sustainability This view of the actors as doing sustainability through care practice in a corporate setting paves the way for a caring analysis exploring the different versions of sustainability as different matters of care The enactment of sustainability is studied through participant observation interviews and document studies The most frequently enacted versions of sustainability are sustainability as saving resources sustainability through standards labels sustainability as caring for people and sustainability as a conscious choice The study shows how some versions of sustainability in one setting can clash such as when the employees at HygieneTech have to decide between caring for saving resources or caring for labelled products Even so in other settings versions of sustainability can be added together and thus enable the employees to care for sustainability both as a marketing device and as a conscious choice Furthermore the thesis shows that sustainability is sometimes made absent in relation to other matters of care such as cleanliness and economy while in other settings economy and sustainability can be added together Finally the thesis shows how sustainability while enacted in several
