Making Sense of Natural Disasters Graham Dwyer, 2022-03-08 This book examines the ways in which emergency management organizations make sense and learn from natural disasters Examining recent bushfires in Australia it demonstrates that whilst public inquiries that follow such disasters can be important for learning and change they have ultimately created a learning vacuum insofar as their recommendations repeat themselves This has kept governments and society focused on learning lessons about the past rather than for the future Accordingly this book recommends a new approach to sensemaking and learning focused on prospective planning rather than retrospective recommendations and where planning for the future is seen as the shared responsibility of the government society and the emergency management community in Australia and beyond

The Zero Trimester Miranda R. Waggoner, 2017-09-12 In the United States a healthy pregnancy is now defined well before pregnancy begins Public health messages encourage women of reproductive age to anticipate motherhood and prepare their bodies for healthy reproduction even when pregnancy is not on the horizon Some experts believe that this pre pregnancy care model will reduce risk and ensure better birth outcomes than the prenatal care model Others believe it represents yet another attempt to control women's bodies The Zero Trimester explores why the task of perfecting pregnancies now takes up a woman's entire reproductive life from menarche to menopause Miranda R Waggoner shows how the zero trimester rose alongside shifts in medical and public health priorities contentious reproductive politics and the changing realities of women's lives in the twenty first century Waggoner argues that the emergence of the zero trimester is not simply related to medical and health concerns it also reflects the power of culture and social ideologies to shape both population health imperatives and women's bodily experiences
