Vision and Blindness in Film Dago Schelin, 2019-02-13. In order to understand vision we have to look into concepts of blindness both diegetically in typical film characters and in the representation of sight or lack thereof. A critical historical investigation into theories of vision shows that the way we understand visuality today scientifically and culturally is very different from pre-modern notions and practices. In this book Dago Schelin questions categories such as active and passive vision, tactile visuality as well as blind vision and discusses them alongside a variety of movies that deal with vision and blindness. Is there a connection between the filmmaker's gaze and an older pre-Keplerian ontology of vision? What is the role of sound in vision? Are our eyes mere camcorders or might they be projectors? These and other questions comprise the fascinating journey on which this study embarks.

The Persistence of the Human Matthew Escobar, 2016-09-07. Recent narrative fiction and film increasingly exploit, explore and thematize the embodied mind, revealing the tenacity of a certain brand of humanism. The presence of narratively based concepts of personal identity even in texts which explore posthuman possibilities is strong proof that our basic understanding of what it means to be human has, despite appearances, remained mostly unchanged. This is so even though our perception of time has been greatly modified by the same technology which both interrupts and allows for the rearrangement of our experience of time at a rate and a level of ease which until recently had never been possible. Basing his views on a long line of philosophers and literary theorists such as Paul Ricoeur, Daniel Dennett and Francisco Varela, Escobar maintains in The Persistence of the Human that narrative plays an essential role in the process of constituting and maintaining a sense of self. It is narrative's effect on the embodied mind which gives it such force. Narrative projects us into possible spaces, shaping a temporary corporeality termed the meta-body, a hybrid shared by the lived body and an imagined corporeal sense. The meta-body is a secondary embodiment that we inhabit for however long our narrative immersion lasts, something which in today's world may be a question of milliseconds or hours. The more agreeable the meta-body is, the less happy we are upon being abruptly removed from it, though the return is essential. We want to be able to slip back and forth between this secondary embodiment and that of our lived body; each move entails both forgetting and remembering different subject positions. Loss and recuperation being salient themes in the works which highlight this process, the negotiation of the transfer between these states is shaped by culture and technology and this is something which is precisely in flux now as multiple ephemeral narrative immersion experiences are created by the different screens we come into contact with

Hexagonal Variations Jo McCormack, Murray Pratt, Alistair Rolls Alistair Rolls, 2011-03 Hexagonal Variations provides an essential overview of key debates about contemporary French society and culture Concise challenging and comprehensive its chapters each address the processes of change and redefinition that characterise France today Contributors analyse and situate cinematic literary online and visual texts mediatic political and everyday discourses in each case pinpointing how diversity plurality and reinvention inflect cultural and social evolution in France The chapters in the collection share a key set of thematic concerns and raise topics for debate among scholars and students alike Central to these are questions about France's uncertain place and role in Europe and the wider world the morphing topography of its capital and the many conundrums posed by the persistence of Republican paradigms in a global environment If France is no longer the exception what are the versions and varieties of being French that are lived thought and imagined in the new millennium

Subjectivity across Media Maike Sarah Reinerth, Jan-Noël Thon, 2016-10-04 Media in general and narrative media in particular have the potential to represent not only a variety of both possible and actual worlds but also the perception and consciousness of characters in these worlds Hence media can be understood as qualia machines as technologies that allow for the production of subjective experiences within the affordances and limitations posed by the conventions of their specific mediality This edited collection examines the transmedial as well as the medium specific strategies employed by the verbal representations characteristic for literary texts the verbal pictorial representations characteristic for comics the audiovisual representations characteristic for films and the interactive representations characteristic for video games Combining theoretical perspectives from analytic philosophy cognitive theory and narratology with approaches from phenomenology psychosemiotics and social semiotics the contributions collected in this volume provide a state of the art map of current research on a wide variety of ways in which subjectivity can be represented across conventionally distinct media Films

With Legs Véronique Maisier, Rosemary A. Peters, 2011-07-12 Films With Legs Crossing Borders with Foreign Language Films addresses the ways international cinematic traditions both erect borders and blur them or tear them down Each chapter of this book examines real and perceived borders their representations on the screen and their manifestations in filmic texts that can also be cultural documents and political statements The fifteen articles included here discuss films made by twenty four directors with dialogues in nine foreign languages representing cultural aspects from twelve countries and five continents From Algeria to Bulgaria Germany to Israel India to Argentina the films studied in this book have legs that cross many borders and take their audiences on distant journeys Simultaneously these films comment on the ever expanding nature of cinema itself of filmic language and of film as language and discuss how borders are constructed on the screen not just in fences and walls and boundaries but also in dialogue and dialect speech and accent and silence Britannica Book
