Le Plaisir Du Texte:

Le plaisir du texte Roland Barthes, 2000 Une édition du célèbre ouvrage de Barthes augmenté d'un texte contemporain du premier Tous deux crits entre 1971 et 1973 relevaient de l'ambitieux projet de Barthes de suivre dans l'histoire de l'humanité le lent processus de départ de la trace de l'écriture jusqu'à la composition du texte et l'émergence de la lecture du lecteur et de la jouissance de lire

The Pleasures of the Text Elizabeth Locey, 2002-01-15 This provocative reading of scandalous French woman writer Violette Leduc heralded as a great by Beauvoir Sartre Genet Camus erodes the divide between body and text in erotic literature In The Pleasures of the Text Elizabeth Locey sets herself the task of pinning down the often slippery ways in which pleasure is mapped onto the body of the reader and she confronts and challenges the philosophical debate between pornography and erotica

Genetic Criticism and the Creative Process William Kinderman, Joseph E. Jones, 2009 Studies of the genesis of musical literary and theatrical works Not only the final outcome but the process of creative endeavor has long attracted attention in various artistic disciplines but only recently has the potential of such research been seriously explored The most rigorous basis for the study of artistic creativity comes not from anecdotal or autobiographical reports but from original handwritten sketches and drafts and preliminary studies as well as from revised manuscripts and typescripts corrected proof sheets and similar primary sources The term genetic criticism or critique génétique relates not to the field of genetics but to the genesis of works of art as studied in a broad and inclusive context The essays in this volume explore aspects of genetic criticism in an interdisciplinary context emphasizing music literature and theater A common thread pertains to the essential continuity between a work and its genesis This volume brings together essays from leading scholars on subjects ranging from biblical scholarship to Samuel Beckett and from Beethoven's Eroica Symphony to very recent musical compositions Contributors Nicolas Donin Daniel Ferrer Alan Gosman R B Graves Joseph E Jones William Kinderman Jean Louis Lebrave Lewis Lockwood Geert Lernout Peter McCallum Armine Kotin Mortimer and James L Zychowicz William Kinderman is Professor of Musicology at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign Joseph E Jones is visiting Assistant Professor of Musicology at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign

The Secret Violence of Henry Miller Katy Masuga, 2011 Miller as a writer whose work does something more profound and violent to literary conventions than produce novel effects it announces the possibility of difference and instability within language itself Henry Miller is a cult figure in the world of fiction in part due to having been banned for obscenity for nearly thirty years Alongside the liberating effect of his explicit treatment of sexuality however Miller developed a provocative form of writing that encourages the reader to question language as a stable communicative tool and to consider the act of writing as an ongoing mode of creation always in motion perpetually establishing itself and creating meaning through that very motion Katy Masuga provides a new reading of Miller that is alert to the aggressively and self consciously writerly form of his work Critiquing the categorization of Miller into specific literary genres through an examination of the small body of critical texts on his oeuvre Masuga draws on Deleuze and Guattari's concept of a minor literature Blanchot's infinite curve and Bataille's theory of puerile language while also considering Miller in relation to other writers including Proust Rilke and William Carlos Williams She shows how Miller defies conventional modes of writing subverting language from within Katy Masuga is Adjunct Professor of British and American literature cinema and the arts in the Cultural Studies Department at the University of Paris III Sorbonne Nouvelle

Violette Garau, 1979 Michel Houellebecq Sabine Van Wesemael, 2005-04-02 Dans un chass croisé ayant pour point de départ le plaisir du texte Huysmans Beigbeder Constant Freud Fuentes et Loti rencontrent Houellebecq qui ne ressort pas toujours indemne de la comparaison L'crivain des Particules Imaginaires offre-t-il plus de jouissance la lecture ou la réflexion Le plaisir du texte serait-il le plaisir du rire et l'effet comique est-il toujours aussi Les héros tendance fin de siècle ou utopistes inventés Faire le pitre ou faire pitié Tout plutôt que le néant de l'anonymat conclut l'auteur

Roland Barthes Andrew Brown, 1992 The first serious analysis of Barthes as a writer with specific aesthetic techniques this fresh and original study focuses on some of the ways he discusses the nature of his own writing The first two chapters examine the key but ambiguous term of drift a word which raises questions about how exactly Barthes's writing develops across three decades about the scientific legitimacy of his concepts and about his own frequently fraught relation to the scientific discourses around him especially psychoanalysis Two typical discursive maneuvers that structure his writing naming and framing are then shown to generate particular aesthetic effects which cause complications for some of his theoretical stances Barthes's fascination for the idea that all writing is a kind of scribble closer to the visual arts than to speech is investigated in depth and his latent animosity against speech as such is made manifest The final chapter suggests that for Barthes the real can leave its mark on writing only as a disturbing indeed traumatic trace transformative potential of literature through themes of loss maternity and difference in original readings of some post 1980 French fiction Anglophone readers are introduced to the rich oeuvre of Christiane Baroche and to the accessible yet thought provoking novels of Paule Constant winner of the 1998 prix Goncourt as well as to new critical analyses of Hélène Cixous's later fictions

Thresholds of Desire Ilona Chessid, 1993 This innovative reading of Emile Zola's Rougon Macquart uncovers a complex system of repression and rebellion in the society of 19th century France It identifies literal and figurative thresholds as loci of conflict in the novels and reveals a network of mechanisms for expressing transgressive desire within the bounds of acceptability Thresholds of Desire begins with an exploration of physical boundaries such as doors windows and walls then goes on to examine social institutions such as the Church and the theater It demonstrates how these constructs often provoke the transgression they are expected to prevent Through an original application of concepts such as mediation and metaphor the study develops a remarkable theory of veiling which explains how the illicit is made permissible by a partial covering or disguise
