Dayr Al-Barshā Harco Willems, Lies op de Beeck, 2007 This is the first volume of the final reports of the Mission of the K U Leuven in Dayr al Barsha Middle Egypt It contains the publication in colour photographs and line drawings in colour of three small tombs probably dated immediately after the Unification of Egypt in the reign of pharaoh Mentuhotep II XIth Dynasty After an introduction on the long term research strategy of the Dayr al Barsha project it first offers an account of the setting of the tombs and of earlier research carried out there This is followed by a detailed account of each of the three monuments including a detailed philological commentary of the texts These include two autobiographical inscriptions of which one has received little attention while the other is here published in full for the first time The scant archaeological remains found in the tombs are also dealt with in detail The two tombs are contemporary with that of the nomarch Ahanakht I and offers a rare insight into the functioning of a nomarchal court in the early Middle Kingdom The last chapter offers an analysis of this and also advances a hypothesis on the way king Mentuhotep succeeded in integrating the Middle Egyptian provincial elites into the newly united kingdom

Cultural Interactions and Social Strategies on the Pontic Shores Jane Hjarl Petersen, 2010 In Antiquity the Black Sea region was a meeting point for several different population groups with diverse cultural backgrounds The present monograph takes its point of departure in burial data from four coastal localities in the northern region of the Black Sea The mortuary practices are decoded and interpreted within a framework mainly based on concepts of cultural interaction rather than cultural polarisation Thus the dogma of The Greeks and the Others is challenged and alternative perceptions of interactions between the people in the Black Sea region form the basis of the study The burials are primarily analysed with emphasis on social strategies and cultural diversity Furthermore the Black Sea region is set into a comparative perspective through an outlook on burial customs and mortuary practices in the colonial milieus of contemporary Southern Italy Isaiah John D.
