STUDYING FOR THE GRE

GRE® is a computer-based test that measures your ability to understand and analyze written material in English. It is used by many graduate schools to evaluate applicants. The test is divided into three main sections: Verbal Reasoning, Quantitative Reasoning, and Analytical Writing. Each section contains multiple-choice, text completion, and short-answer questions. The Verbal Reasoning section tests your ability to understand and analyze written material in English. The Quantitative Reasoning section tests your ability to understand and analyze quantitative information. The Analytical Writing section tests your ability to analyze issues and arguments and to express your ideas in writing. The GRE is a computer-based test, so you will be able to see your score immediately after you finish the test. This is a great benefit, as it allows you to see how well you did on the test and to use that information to guide your study.
