

A woman and a young girl are shown in a dark, plague-ridden environment. The woman is in the background, looking off to the side, while the girl is in the foreground, looking directly at the camera. They are surrounded by a large number of rats, which are a central element of the game's theme. The overall tone is somber and horror-themed.

Monatshefte, 1984 Not So Innocent Abroad Ulrike Brisson, Bernard Schweizer, 2009-10-02 With its specific focus on the connections between politics travel and travel writing Not So Innocent Abroad offers a fresh approach to the study of travel literature The authors make clear that travel and travel writing are never an innocent enterprise rather journeying always occurs within political systems and travel writing either reflects the traveler's political stance includes political aspects of foreign cultures or directly or indirectly influences political decisions In contrast to most scholarly publications that primarily focus on travel literature of former colonial nations this volume includes a broader range of travelogues depicting cultures worldwide spanning from the eighteenth to the twenty first century It thus offers with its comparative approach not only a geographically wide selection but also an historical dimension to the political aspects of travel writing Although most travel literature generally has followed the Horatian principle to instruct and delight the armchair traveler the authors of this volume clearly address the broader political implications of travel and travel writing within networks of naked politics such as international or interior conflicts emigration laws or national propaganda They also reveal how insidiously political messages are dissimulated through travel writing Art Nexus, 2007 Theorizing Stephen King Michael Blouin, 2025-10-01 Readers of all stripes will find something to appreciate in this collection which illuminates how King's horror literature as a media form has shifted in relation to cultural understandings over time Many chapters touch upon how surrounding texts such as film TV adaptations have played into these mediations throughout King's storied career For the first time reader of King this volume offers a doorway into his works an array of exciting critical frameworks with which to make sense of King's fictional universe For literary critics this volume argues that King's corpus remains a site for robust intellectual inquiry And for all of us the book provides an occasion one that is long overdue to rethink King's relationship to critical theory as well as his legacy as a major American author While it may prove impossible to reconcile King and the academy we might nonetheless explore the evolution of their inescapable bond in hopes of negotiating a greater understanding between them Journeys Through Babudom and Netaland T. Beyond All this Fiddle Alfred Alvarez, 1969 Again to the Life of Eternity Frank A. Vaughan, 1996 This work postulates that the set of 116 designs by William Blake illustrated herein is not a series of individual responses to the pieces of text they accompany nor is it a series of responses to the individual poems of Thomas Gray The designs are also more than illustrations or corrections of Gray s speakers or of Gray himself In the Gray designs Blake was using the opportunity given him by John and Ann Flaxman in 1797 to explore and explain visually the reformist malaise in the reactionary nineties when the general economic well being and optimism had been replaced by the effects of war and fear For Blake the collapse into the later 1790s is the failure of the imaginative will to sustain the impetus that the American and French Revolutions had begun Blake saw several causes for this failure of will and created a set of designs rich in allusions and dense with visual conventions These visual topoi are personal topical classical biblical and literary Thus there is a need for a study of the Gray designs that sees them as they are a unity rich with visual conventions partaking of Blake's revolutionary pattern of development and desire to reshape in specific ways the mind of his audience
