Managing Technology from Laboratory to Marketplace Sanford L. Moskowitz, Chris Erickson, 2024-03-26. Managing Technology from Laboratory to Marketplace outlines the process of getting innovative research out of the laboratory and into the market, a path which is often fraught with challenges. Many research projects meet their end as they attempt to cross this so-called valley of death, the period between the research phase of a project and the point when the new product or process emerging from that research becomes commercialized and enters the market. Firstly, this book aims to better understand how and why projects succeed in entering the market while others falter. Second, it uses these insights to guide researchers to optimize their chances of successfully making that transition and finding their place in the market. The book primarily uses case studies from the field of advanced materials but can be used by any researcher making the transition from laboratory to marketplace.

Management of Technology & Innovation V.K. Khurana, 2009. Technology and Strategy Richard A. Goodman, Michael W. Lawless, 1994-10-06. In today's complex, dynamic competitive landscape, management of technology can mean the difference between success and failure. Managers and researchers alike need effective ways to conceptualize and develop technology strategies. Richard Goodman and Michael Lawless provide tools needed to integrate firms' technology capabilities with their competitive direction. Technology and Strategy presents models that help put technology and its market impacts into perspective. It addresses the broad questions of how technology and markets evolve, how technology can reorder the rules of competition, and how it can shift the balance of individual firms' competitive advantage. It also blends topics currently capturing attention in business circles, such as Total Quality Management and the resource-based view of the firm, into a clear view of technology management programs. Technology and Strategy also describes methods to develop specific strategies to cope with challenges facing executives, like evaluating promising but untried new technologies. Using actual case studies from the electronics and bio-tech industries, Goodman and Lawless demonstrate the use of new techniques to formulate strategy, including Technology Mapping and the Innovation Audit. Both were created to help executives choose the approach to technology best suited to their firms' particular capabilities. Offering clear practical guidance through a complex, fast-changing world of competition, this new analysis of technology and strategy is a valuable
