Reproducing the French Race Elisa Camiscioli, 2009-09-18 In Reproducing the French Race Elisa Camiscioli argues that immigration was a defining feature of early twentieth century France and she examines the political cultural and social issues implicated in public debates about immigration and national identity at the time Camiscioli demonstrates that mass immigration provided politicians jurists industrialists racial theorists feminists and others with ample opportunity to explore questions of French racial belonging France's relationship to the colonial empire and the rest of Europe and the connections between race and national anxieties regarding depopulation and degeneration She also shows that discussions of the nation and its citizenry consistently returned to the body its color and gender its expenditure of labor power its reproductive capacity and its experience of desire Of paramount importance was the question of which kinds of bodies could assimilate into the French race By focusing on telling aspects of the immigration debate Camiscioli reveals how racial hierarchies were constructed how gender figured in their creation and how only white Europeans were cast as assimilable Delving into pronatalist politics she describes how potential immigrants were ranked according to their imagined capacity to adapt to the workplace and family life in France She traces the links between racialized categories and concerns about industrial skills and output and she examines medico hygienic texts on interracial sex connecting those to the crusade against prostitution and the related campaign to abolish white slavery the alleged entrapment of white women for sale into prostitution abroad Camiscioli also explores the debate surrounding the 1927 law that first made it possible for French women who married foreigners to keep their French nationality She concludes by linking the Third Republic's impulse to create racial hierarchies to the emergence of the Vichy regime , Selling French Sex Elisa Camiscioli, 2024-01-25 This illuminating global history challenges the notion that coercion alone dictated women's migrations for work in the sex industry Recueil Des Cours, Collected Courses, 1925 Academie De Droit International De La Ha, 1972-12-01 The Academy is a prestigious international institution for the study and teaching of Public and Private International Law and related subjects The work of the Hague Academy receives the support and recognition of the UN Its purpose is to encourage a thorough and impartial examination of the problems arising from international relations in the field of law The courses deal with the theoretical and practical aspects of the subject including legislation and case law All courses at the Academy are in principle published in the language in which they were delivered in the Collected Courses of the Hague Academy of International Law The Developing Canadian Community Samuel Delbert Clark, 1909 Collection of papers and essays concerning the development of Canadian society Includes a chapter on the gold rush society of British Columbia and the Yukon Le Chemin de Buenos Aires Albert Londres, 2019-04-11 En 1926 l'auteur de Marseille porte du Sud s'intéresse aux réseaux de prostitution et en particulier au sujet très sensible l'époque de la traite des blanches savoir la migration plus ou moins forcée vers l'Argentine de jeunes femmes françaises pauvres tombées sous la coupe de proxénètes Après avoir recueilli des renseignements dans le milieu
