Transnational Writing on Italy Lynn Mastellotto, 2025-03-18 Relocation narratives form a distinct subgenre of contemporary travel memoirs concerned with the experiences of travellers who become settlers in foreign locales and narrate their experience of cultural accommodation in serial autobiographical accounts This book seeks to understand the discourse of identity alterity in relocation writing which focuses on the topos of everyday life from a transnational perspective one which embraces a cosmopolitan orientation of openness to cultural difference Focusing on three transnational writers in Italy and their respective relocation trilogies Frances Mayes's Tuscan memoirs Annie Hawes's Ligurian memoirs and Tim Parks's Verona memoirs the study examines the sustained engagement with place and place-based practices given narrative voice through multipart works which trace the authors' migrating identities These nonfiction accounts contribute to a broader polyphonic literature in which transnational writers give voice to personal stories shaped by intercultural experiences which provide a powerful localised lens to examine how identities are dialogically transformed through contact with difference in a globalised world By giving readers an opportunity to reflect on identity and diversity in local global contexts transnational literature contributes to a better understanding of cultural change in late modernity and provides an important space for critical creative and transcultural exchange license A fresh anthropological look at a central but neglected topic the profound changes in rural life throughout Western Europe today As locals leave for jobs in cities they are replaced by neo hippies lifestyle seekers eco activists and labour migrants from beyond the EU With detailed ethnographic examples contributors analyse new modes of living rurally and emerging forms of social organisation As incomers dreams come up against residents realities they detail the clashes and the cooperations between old and new residents They make us rethink the rural urban divide investigate regionalists politicisation of rural life and heritage and reveal how locals use EU monies to prop up or challenge existing hierarchies They expose the consequences of and reactions to grand EU restructuring policies which at times threaten to turn the countryside into a manicured playground for escapee urbanites This book will appeal to anyone seriously interested in the realities of rural life today An electronic edition of this book is freely available under a Creative Commons CC BY NC ND licence

The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2005      Performing Nostalgia: Migration Culture and Creativity in South Albania Eckehard Pistrick,2017-07-05 Migration studies is an area of increasing significance in musicology as in other disciplines How do migrants express and imagine themselves through musical practice How does music help them to construct social imaginaries and to cope with longings and belongings In this study of migration music in postsocialist Albania Eckehard Pistrick identifies links between sound space emotionality and mobility in performance provides new insights into the controversial relationship between sound and migration and sheds light on the cultural effects of migration processes Central to Pistrick s approach is the essential role of emotionality for musical creativity which is highlighted throughout the volume pain and longing are discussed not as a traumatising end point but as a driving force for human action and as a source for cultural creativity In addition the study provides a fascinating overview about the current state of a rarely documented vocal tradition in Europe that is a part of the mosaic of Mediterranean singing traditions It refers to the challenges imposed onto this practice by heritage politics the dynamics of retraditionalisation and musical globalisation In this sense the book constitutes an important study to the dynamics of postsocialism as seen from a musicological perspective

Sea of Literatures Angela Fabris,Albert Göschl,Steffen Schneider,2023-12-18 Mediterranean studies flourish in literary and cultural studies but concepts of the Mediterranean and the theories and methods they use are very disparate This is because the Mediterranean is not a simple geographical or historical unity but a multiplicity a network of highly interconnected elements each of which is different and individual Talking about Mediterranean literature raises the question of whether the connectivity of Mediterranean literature can or should be limited in some way by constructing an inside and an outside of the Mediterranean What kind of connectivity and fragmentation do literary texts produce how do they build and interrupt references to the real to fictional forms of representation to history but also to other texts and discourses how do they create and deny communication and how do they engage with and reflect literary and non literary concepts of the Mediterranean These and other questions are considered and discussed in the over twenty contributions gathered in this character is the author s great aunt Marianna who became the mistress of a wealthy noble The lifestyle she adopted repeatedly shamed her relatives until living in Italy became unbearable for them Eventually the author s father Raffaele fled his beloved Italy in the face of constant shame and settled in the U S His son author Peter Chiarella grew up in the Bedford Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn There he heard the stories about life in Calabria from his grandmother a principal character in the book After her death the stories kept coming both from his father also a character in Calabrian Tales and from his mother who had listened in on Nonna s recollections over a period of fifteen years The stories of people who lived in what may have been Italy s poorest region blend with the historical struggles of the times in a combination reminiscent of certain to be an American and a Calabrian at the same time Little by little the author learns Italian conducts family research visits his family s ancestral village re establishes contacts with his Calabrian family and teaches Italian during the last ten years of
