Larry Sultan Rebecca Morse,2014-11-11 This first comprehensive overview of celebrated photographer Larry Sultan s work accompanies a major retrospective and features work from every significant series including Homeland his most recent body of work This first comprehensive overview of celebrated photographer Larry Sultan s work accompanies a major retrospective and features work from every significant series including Evidence 1977 the conceptual project with Mike Mandel which broke ground by demonstrating how context and sequence directly influence our interpretation of photographs Pictures from Home 1982-92 a personal exploration of family and domesticity challenging larger notions of representation through use of contemporary pictures of Sultan s parents contrasted with movie stills from his childhood The Valley 1998-2003 a deliberate inquiry into the subversion of the suburban homes commonly used by the porn industry as sets for films and Homeland 2006-09 Sultan s most recent body of work depicting day laborers posed in evocative California settings suggesting both dislocation and longing Also featured are additional early collaborative works with Mandel selected later career editorial work and writings by and interviews with Sultan elucidating his creative process The Mysteries Of Light: Illumination, Intention and Desire In Photobooks

Robert Dunn,2023-05-01 The Mysteries of Light is an original literary meditation on the significance and meaning of photobooks Written by a photographer and novelist the book brings a strong new light to the photobook phenomenon It s a mix of personal stories and examinations of such great artists as Robert Frank Daido Moriyama Saul Leiter Alec Soth Masahisa Fukase and Christer Strömholm as well as newcomers Daisuke Yokota Laura El Tantawy and Jason Eskenazi The Mysteries of Light is personal and passionate fun lively informative inspiring and will help you understand photobooks and get you jazzed about them in a whole new way Formulations Andrew

Witt,2022-01-11 An investigation of mathematics as it was drawn encoded imagined and interpreted by architects on the eve of digitization in the mid twentieth century In Formulations Andrew Witt examines the visual methodological and cultural intersections between architecture and mathematics The linkages Witt explores involve not the mystic transcendence of numbers invoked throughout architectural history but rather architecture s encounters with a range of calculational systems techniques that architects inventively retooled for design Witt offers a catalog of mid twentieth century practices of mathematical drawing and calculation in design that preceded and anticipated digitization as well as an account of the formal compendia that became a cultural currency shared between modern mathematicians and modern architects Witt presents a series of extensively illustrated biographies of method episodes that chart the myriad ways in which mathematics particularly the mathematical notion of modeling and drawing was spliced into the creative practice of design These include early drawing machines that mechanized curvature the incorporation of geometric maquettes theorems made flesh into the toolbox of design the virtualization of buildings and landscapes through surveyed triangulation and photogrammetry formal and functional topology stereoscopic drawing the economic implications of cubic matrices and a strange synthesis of the

technological mineral and biological crystallographic design Trained in both architecture and mathematics Witt uses mathematics as a lens through which to understand the relationship between architecture and a much broader set of sciences and visual techniques Through an intercultural exchange with other disciplines he argues architecture adapted not only the shapes and surfaces of mathematics but also its values and epistemic ideals Lost Days, Endless Nights Andrew Witt, 2025-01-14 A critical study and artist's book on the history of photography and film from Los Angeles Lost Days Endless Nights tells a history from below an account of the lives of the forgotten and dispossessed of Los Angeles the unemployed the precariously employed the evicted the alienated the unhoused the anxious the exhausted Through an analysis of abandoned archival works experimental films and other projects Andrew Witt offers an expansive account of the artists who have lived or worked in Los Angeles delving into the region's history and geography highlighting its racial gender and class conflicts Presented as a series of nine case studies Witt explores how artists as diverse as Agnès Varda Dana Lixenberg Allan Sekula Catherine Opie John Divola Gregory Halpern Paul Sepuya and Guadalupe Rosales have reimagined and reshaped our understanding of contemporary Los Angeles The book features portraits of those who struggle and attempt to get by in the city dock workers students bus riders petty criminals office workers immigrants queer and trans activists Set against the landscape of economic turmoil and environmental crises that shadowed the 1970s Witt highlights the urgent need for a historical perspective of cultural retrieval and counternarrative Extending into the present Lost Days Endless Nights advocates for an approach that actively embraces the works and projects that have been overlooked and evicted from the historical imaginary Who's Looking at the Family? Val Williams, Barbican Art Gallery, 1994 Train Your Gaze Roswell Angier, 2007-05-31 What is common to all portrait photographs is a situational element In portrait photography the presence of the photographers gaze also becomes an integral part of what the picture is about the activity of one person looking manifested in a moment that can feel like the blink of an eye or a small eternity This book offers for the first time a complete text that combines the theoretical with the practical American Jewish Loss After the Holocaust Laura Levitt, 2007-11 Many of us belong to communities that have been scarred by terrible calamities And many of us come from families that have suffered grievous losses How we reflect on these legacies of loss and the ways they inform each other are the questions Laura Levitt takes up in this provocative and passionate book An American Jew whose family was not directly affected by the Holocaust Levitt grapples with the challenges of contending with ordinary Jewish loss She suggests that although the memory of the Holocaust may seem to overshadow all other kinds of loss for American Jews it can also open up possibilities for engaging these more personal and everyday legacies Weaving in discussions of her own family stories and writing in a manner that is both deeply personal and erudite Levitt shows what happens when public and private losses are seen next to each other and what happens when difficult works of art or commemoration such as museum exhibits or films are seen alongside ordinary family stories about more intimate losses In so doing she illuminates how through these ordinary stories we may create an alternative model for confronting Holocaust memory in Jewish culture Not Here, Not Now Anthony Dunne, Fiona Raby, 2025-05-06 What it means to design at a time when for many people the future seems to have become an impossibility When reality fails us what can designers do Question design's relationship to reality as Anthony Dunne and Fiona Raby do in this exhilarating yet thoughtful journey to the edges of science philosophy and literature to find new ways of thinking about the possible and about the meaning function and place of design in that speculative world of not here not now A conceptual travelogue of sorts Not Here Not Now brings together words images and objects that capture in design form some of the ideas encountered along the way Itself a design experiment the richly illustrated book explores ways to bring these ideas into conversation with objects through imagined archives libraries glossaries taxonomies lists tales and essays The design responses in Not Here Not Now to a stone raft for example or a vegetable lamb swatches of imaginary colors a pocket universe in the home objects undergoing space time collapse are like the most compelling utopias impossible by design aiming instead to nourish the creative intellectual and imaginative ground from which new possibilities still unknown might begin to emerge Photography Barbara London, John Upton, 1993 Text covering material for basic photography courses and many advanced techniques with sample photos that illustrate techniques discussed California
