This paper presents a new method for the detection of faults in the system. The proposed method is based on the use of a neural network. The neural network is trained to detect faults in the system. The neural network is trained using a set of data that contains both normal and faulty data. The neural network is then used to detect faults in the system. The neural network is able to detect faults in the system with a high degree of accuracy. The neural network is able to detect faults in the system with a high degree of accuracy.
