Kellert,2012-09-26 Sustainable design has made great strides in recent years unfortunately it still falls short of fully integrating nature into our built environment Through a groundbreaking new paradigm of restorative environmental design award winning author Stephen R Kellert proposes a new architectural model of sustainability In Building For Life Kellert examines the fundamental interconnectedness of people and nature and how the loss of this connection results in a diminished quality of life This thoughtful new work illustrates how architects and designers can use simple methods to address our innate needs for contact with nature Through the use of natural lighting ventilation and materials as well as more unexpected methodologies the use of metaphor perspective enticement and symbol architects can greatly enhance our daily lives These design techniques foster intellectual development relaxation and physical and emotional well being In the works of architects like Frank Lloyd Wright Eero Saarinen Cesar Pelli Norman Foster and Michael Hopkins Kellert sees the success of these strategies and presents models for moving forward Ultimately Kellert views our fractured relationship with nature as a design problem rather than an unavoidable aspect of modern life and he proposes many practical and creative solutions for cultivating a more rewarding experience of nature in our built environment
