Laser Window and Mirror Materials G. C. Battle, Tom Connolly, Anne M. Keese, 2012-12-06 Charles S Sahagian Chief Electromagnetic Materials Technology Branch Deputy for Electronic Technology Hanscom AFB MA 01731 It should not be surprising that an event as significant as the discovery of the laser has had some concomitant impact on other areas of science and technology but the extent of the impact was grossly unpredicted Upon perusal of this bibliography devoted to the subject of laser window and mirror materials it becomes very apparent that the effect of the laser on materials and as new frequencies improved tunability higher power and other characteristics are achieved we can expect even greater demands and requirements on the materials community What are some of the highlights disclosed by this bibliography with regard to work already accomplished First one can note the extensive investigations into developing new materials while at the same time improving old ones Among the latter alkali halides for example have essentially had a rebirth In the past five years more progress has been achieved in the chemical and structural perfection of this class of materials than in the entire preceding century Also carried along in the surge for improved laser materials have been the alkaline earth fluorides prime candidates for 3 to 5 J/cm applications chalcogenides semiconductors oxides and others
