Taylor, 2006 French novels such as Madame Bovary and The Stranger are staples of high school and college literature courses This work provides coverage of the French novel since its origins in the 16th century with an emphasis on novels most commonly studied in high school and college courses in world literature and in French culture and civilization The French Invention of Menopause and the Medicalisation of Women's Ageing Alison M. Downham

Moore,2022-09-22 Doctors writing about menopause in France vastly outnumbered those in other cultures throughout the entire nineteenth century The concept of menopause was invented by French male medical students in the aftermath of the French Revolution becoming an important pedagogic topic and a common theme of doctors professional identities in postrevolutionary biomedicine Older women were identified as an important patient cohort for the expanding medicalisation of French society and were advised to entrust themselves to the hygienic care of doctors in managing the whole era of life from around and after the final cessation of menses However menopause owed much of its conceptual weft to earlier themes of women as the sicker sex of vitalist crisis of the vapours and of astrological climacteric years This is the first comprehensive study of the origins of the medical concept of menopause richly contextualising its role in nineteenth century French medicine and revealing the complex threads of meaning that informed its invention It tells a complex story of how women s ageing featured in the demographic revolution in modern science in the denigration of folk medicine in the unique French field of hygiene and in the fixation on women in the emergence of modern psychiatry It reveals the nineteenth century French origins of the still current medical and alternative health approaches to women s ageing as something to be managed through gynaecological surgery hormonal replacement and lifestyle intervention Abuse or Punishment? Marie-Aimée

Cliche,2014-11-26 At one time the use of corporal punishment by parents in child rearing was considered normal but in the second half of the nineteenth century this began to change in Quebec as well as the rest of the Western world It was during this period that the extent of ill treatment inflicted on children treatment once excused as good child rearing practice was discovered This book analyzes both the advice provided to parents and the different forms of child abuse within families Cliche derives her information from family magazines reports and advice columns in newspapers people s life stories the records of the Montreal Juvenile Court and even comic strips Two dates are given particular focus 1920 with the trial of the parents of Aurore Gagnon which sensitized the public to the phenomenon of child martyrs and 1940 with the advent of the New Education movement which was based on psychology rather than strict discipline and religious doctrine There has always been child abuse What has changed is society s sensitivity to it That is why defenders of children s rights call for the repeal of Section 43 of the Canadian Criminal Code which authorizes reasonable corporal punishment Abuse or Punishment considers not only the history of violence towards children in Quebec but the history of public perception of this violence and what it means for the rest of Canada The National Union Catalog, Pre-1956 Imprints Library of Congress,American Library Association.
