V. Hayes, Ed 1996-97, 1996-11-30      International Labour Documentation, 1965      South Africa's Post-Apartheid Military Lindy Heineken, 2020-01-01 This timely book examines how the South African National Defence Force has adapted to the country's new security political and social environment since 1994 In South Africa's changed political state how has civilian control of the military been implemented and what does this mean for defence in a democracy This book presents an overview of the security environment how the mission focus of the military has changed and the implications for force procurement force preparation force employment and force sustainability The author addresses other issues such as the effect of integrating former revolutionary soldiers into a professional armed force the effect of affirmative action on meritocracy recruitment and retention military veterans looking at the difficulties they face in reintegrating back into society and finding gainful employment gender equality and mainstreaming the rise of military unions and why a confrontational instead of a more corporatist approach to labour relations has emerged HIV AIDS and the consequences this holds for the military in terms of its operational effectiveness In closing the author highlights key events that have caused the SANDF to become lost in transition and transformation spelling out some lessons learned The conclusions she draws are pertinent for the future of defence security and civil military relations of countries around the world      Employment of the South African National Defence Force in the Republic of Mozambique in the Fulfilment of the International Obligations of the Republic of South Africa Towards the African Union South Africa. President (1999-2008 : Mbeki), 2003      The Human Transformation of the South African Navy Between 1957 and 1993 Leon Steyn, 2023 The South African Naval Forces became a permanent arm of the Union Defence Force UDF after the Second World War on 1 April 1946 and was named the South African Navy from 1 January 1951 Like other military forces of this period the Navy remained a typical male dominated organisation for the first decades of its existence Furthermore in South Africa the policy of the National Party government which came to power in 1948 shaped the permanent force component of the UDF as a White male Afrikaner dominated organisation Two world wars were however notable deviations in this pattern In order to solve its dire need for more manpower African Coloured and Asian men were recruited to serve in the UDF during both World Wars Their contribution was significant during the Second World War alone 36% of whole time volunteers were non White Gender restrictions were also relaxed as more than 21 000 women were recruited to serve in the UDF during the 1939 45 conflict Their utilisation was mostly in auxiliary capacity but their service in uniform nevertheless left an important post war military legacy The constant need for more manpower by the military in a country that was racially segregated was at the heart of this dichotomy Non White soldiers and women were needed by the military during times of conflict yet were not considered for similar employment during the periods of peace in the inter and post war years The nationalist military build up of the SADF which included the rapid expansion of the SA Navy from the late 1950s again forced the defence authorities to consider suitable alternatives in order to meet the growing demand for manpower They looked to the marginalised groups who had served albeit in small numbers during the world wars The first group of Coloured soldiers was recruited for the South African Army from 1963 and for the Navy from 1965 Women were recruited for the Permanent Force from 1972 while Indian male recruits first joined in 1974 African men were mostly utilised in the Auxiliary Services of the SADF but also employment with the SA Army in a permanent capacity from 1975 The first purposeful recruitment of Africans for the Navy however only followed in the early 1990s This thesis aims to provide a better understanding of these human transformational events that unfolded in a staged pattern in the South African Navy amidst and as a result of the changing South African political and strategic landscape between 1957 and 1993 It is as much a history of the South African Navy as it is of the people that served the organisation during this time and more widely of the political and socio economic condition of South Africa itself Previous historical studies on the Navy focussed exclusively on its development as an organisation its equipment ships and naval operations The Navy's social history especially as it relates to the groups under discussion has been grossly neglected This thesis therefore examines the enlistment of Coloureds Indians women and Africans into the South African Navy and their experience of military service during the period 1957 to 1993 This was a critical time in the history of country witnessing the rise of the apartheid state and beefing up of the SADF It investigates the events and circumstances that initiated the decision to recruit and integrate formerly marginalised sectors of the population into the Navy from the mid 1960s and the mid 1970s respectively and using prosopography to analyse their career progression by the early 1990s The reintroduction of women to the Navy in 1972 and their particular utilisation and specific challenges to integrate into the organisation with emphasis on gender in the military and the relative late recruitment of Africans to the Navy during the early 1990s in contrast to the recruitment and appointment of Africans in the Army during the early 1970s comprise the various aspects investigated The measure and nature of integration and how de segregation was implemented on board ships and ashore are also examined This allows a more nuanced understanding of the mutually reciprocal impacts that these appointments had on the service personnel and the organisation as a whole Page iii to iv

State Security in South Africa James Michael Roherty, 1992 This work is a study of civil military relations in the Republic of South Africa while Pieter Willem Botha was prime minister 1978-89 The author's controversial thesis is that Prime Minister Botha recognizing that his country had reached the historical juncture when it needed to establish a new political order encompassing all of its diverse peoples moved effectively to prepare the ground for fundamental constitutional change What was needed above all were stabilization measures to assure the support of the white population for reform Botha used the South African defence force as his primary instrument By 1989 Professor Roherty maintains a striking degree of stabilization had been achieved within the country and throughout South Africa and the groundwork for epochal change had been prepared The author makes use of exclusive interviews with South Africans from the political military intelligence corporate and academic worlds

Soldiers In A Storm Philip Frankel,2018-05-04 Soldiers in a Storm The Armed Forces in South Africa s Democratic Transition is a study of the role of the military in the creation and development of South Africa s new post apartheid system Philip Frankel asserts that the armed forces played a far greater role in the end of apartheid than is currently acknowledged in the literature and that the relatively peaceful negotiations that ended apartheid would not have been possible without the participation of the South African National Defense Force and two major liberation armies Frankel also examines the topics of military disengagement civilianization post authoritarian political behavior on the part of militaries and the process of democratic consolidation He also discusses how many of these themes have been explored in the context of Latin America and he points out that this is the only book that places these themes within the context of South Africa This is an important case study with universal implications

New Partnerships for a New Era Deane-Peter Baker,2009 Since emerging from the mire of its apartheid past South Africa has become a key player in Sub Saharan Africa The challenge of creating a truly national military during a period in which South Africa has also wrestled with tough internal socio economic problems has left the South African National Defence Force SANDF in a weakened state Despite this they have in recent years made a considerable contribution to efforts to bring peace and stability to the African continent A critical step in building a capable and confident future South African Army has been the commencement of the SA Army's Vision 2020 forward planning process. Recent political changes in both the United States and South Africa have opened up a new window of opportunity for developing a productive partnership between the two nations. This monograph outlines ways in which the United States can contribute to the SA Army's Vision 2020 program to help optimize South Africa's potential contribution to the emergence of a peaceful and stable Africa. At The Front Jannie Geldenhuys, 2012-03-19 General Jannie Geldenhuys is widely regarded as one of the leading military commanders South Africa has produced. As Chief of the South African Defence Force from 1985 to 1990 he brought his experience to bear on the Border War in Namibia and was part of the negotiating team that brought an end to the conflict in 1989. In this completely revised and updated edition Geldenhuys reflects on a military career spanning more than four decades. At the Front covers the years before and during the protracted Border War and consists of Geldenhuys' personal experiences and insights. He sheds light on the final years of the conflict and the negotiated settlement and also writes of his early years as he evolved from a rugby mad young officer to a deep thinking reflective man with ever sharpening insights into war, peace, politics and most of all himself.

Recces Paul Matthysen, Matthew Kalkwarf, Michael Huxtable, 2010 This book has been some 15 years in the making and can claim with some justification to be the definitive publication on the Recces unlikely to be topped for many many years. The South African Special Forces have invariably been portrayed as a sinister force used in covert operations locally and abroad but this is pure political expediency and media propaganda. The unit's operators are humble soldiers whose primary role is intelligence gathering although they will take offensive action ruthlessly if necessary. Highly trained professionals in a class of their own these elite troops have garnered for themselves an international reputation par excellence. Book Jacket
