

A photograph of a car battery resting on a wooden workbench. Two sets of jump-starting cables are connected to the battery terminals. One set of cables, with a red positive lead and a black negative lead, is connected to the battery. Another set of cables is visible in the foreground, also with red and black leads. The background shows a perforated metal surface and some other equipment. The text "Jump start 24V" and "The easy method" is overlaid on the image in a large, blue, outlined font.
