Ka Unit Question Of Dhaka University:

Mental Disorder and Criminal Law Robert Schopp, Richard L. Wiener, Brian H. Bornstein, Steven L. Willborn, 2008-10-09

Robert F Schopp Recent Supreme Court decisions categorically preclude the application of capital punishment to convicted offenders who were below the age of eighteen or mentally 1 retarded at the time they committed the crimes for which they were sentenced Neither opinion suggests that offenders in these categories cannot be criminally responsible for their offenses and the Atkins opinion explicitly recognizes that some mentally 2 retarded offenders can qualify as criminally responsible for their offenses In each case part of the reasoning in support of the exemption from capital sentences purports to show that capital punishment of these offenders would serve neither the retributive 3 nor the deterrent functions of criminal punishment Both opinions focus substantial attention on the retributive rationale contending that these offenders lack sufficient 4 culpability blameworthiness or depravity to merit capital punishment The opinions recognize that a categorical bar for all offenders below a specified age or level of intelligence might exempt some individuals who do not lack culpability sufficient to justify capital sentences The opinions draw categorical rules however to avoid the risk that some individuals who lack sufficient culpability to deserve capital punish 5 ment will be misidentified as sufficiently culpable to merit capital sentences The dissenting opinions in each case recognize that offenders in these categories have limitations that render them less culpable on average than unimpaired offenders who commit similar crimes

The Transport System and Transport Policy Bert van Wee, Jan Anne Annema, David Banister, 2013 This very interesting book provides an excellent multi disciplinary introduction into the functioning of transport systems and the interaction with their environments Erik Verhoef VU University Amsterdam The Netherlands The editors of this important book have clearly identified that few writings on transport treat the transport system as a whole Implicit in this is a need for a genuinely multidisciplinary approach An impressive list of contributors ensures that the book draws on the latest research whilst providing new insights into some of the key challenges facing transport students and researchers transport providers and policy makers Roger Vickerman University of Kent UK Since ancient times transportation has brought our world together But the need for connectivity and accessibility in a spatially differentiated world has prompted the emergence of very complex transportation systems This book offers a fresh and operational contribution to a better understanding of the complexity and manageability of a mobile world by addressing in a balanced way both conceptual and applied or policy aspects of modern transportation systems Peter Nijkamp Free University of Amsterdam The Netherlands Transport impacts on people and businesses in many different ways and presents some of the key problems that decision makers need to address This comprehensive textbook introduces the transport system in a holistic and multidisciplinary way bringing together the myriad components of transport This textbook is written for an international readership of undergraduate and postgraduate students in transport and related subjects as well as for professionals and policy decision makers across both public and private sectors Key features include
