1. The first step in the process of solving a problem is to identify the problem. This is often the most difficult step, as it requires a clear understanding of the problem and the ability to articulate it in a way that can be solved.

2. The second step is to develop a plan. This involves identifying the steps that need to be taken to solve the problem, and determining the order in which these steps should be taken.

3. The third step is to execute the plan. This involves carrying out the steps that have been identified in the plan, and monitoring the progress of the solution.

$$x^2 + 4x + 4 = 0$$

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x}$$

4. The fourth step is to evaluate the solution. This involves checking the solution to see if it satisfies the original problem, and determining if there are any other possible solutions.

5. The fifth step is to communicate the solution. This involves explaining the solution to others, and documenting the process of solving the problem.

$$x^2 + 4x + 4 = 0$$

6. The sixth step is to reflect on the solution. This involves thinking about the process of solving the problem, and identifying any lessons learned.

7. The seventh step is to apply the solution. This involves using the solution to solve other problems, and identifying any new challenges that arise.

$$x^2 + 4x + 4 = 0$$

8. The eighth step is to evaluate the solution. This involves checking the solution to see if it satisfies the original problem, and determining if there are any other possible solutions.

$$x^2 + 4x + 4 = 0$$
