SA Mining ,2006-05 The Chemical Engineer ,2008 South African Transitions Christopher J. Lee,Andrew Offenburger,2025-01-08 This book addresses the multiple repercussions of South Africa s democratic transition beginning in 1994 by examining a number of themes with local national regional and global relevance the politics of nation building public memory residential segregation higher education media racism trade unionism women s rights and global climate change to name only a few Drawing from the rich archive of previously published articles from the journal Safundi South African Transitions documents both the country s and the journal s mutual history over the past quarter century Divided into five sections the first part of the book explores the broad theme of South Africa s transition to non racial democracy by foregrounding issues of nationalism diplomacy rural change social trauma historical commemoration and political feeling at local national and international levels The second section focuses on the question of civil society including essays on media racism histories of segregation legacies of criminal violence and comparative patterns of incarceration underscoring the endurance of certain long term problems and the emergence of new ones Part three surveys the role of education in transforming South Africa while part four situates South Africa s opportunities and challenges within regional and global contexts to better understand the South African situation and its relationship to conditions around the world The penultimate section has contributions that confront the present by identifying the struggles and crises of South Africa s current political moment including labor movements the matter of land restitution feminist activism LGBTQI rights and the Marikana Massacre of 2012 The book ends with an essay on the fire at Jagger Library at the University of Cape Town by historian Bill Nasson a moment of contingent destruction that speaks of the Covid 19 pandemic and the burgeoning climate crisis at present Traversing across time and place South African Transitions will be an indispensable resource for scholars researchers activists and policymakers as well as those readers who are generally interested in understanding South Africa s social political and intellectual transformations over the past several decades Skills' Mining Review ,2002 Mining Mirror ,2008 African Mining ,2005 Financial Mail ,2007-08 Notable Corporate Chronologies ,2001 The Zimbabwe Law Reports ,2003 The Shale Dilemma Shanti Gamper-Rabindran,2017-11-30 The US shale boom and efforts by other countries to exploit their shale resources could reshape energy and environmental landscapes across the world But how might those landscapes change Will countries with significant physical reserves try to exploit them Will they protect or harm local communities and the global climate Will the benefits be shared or retained by powerful interests And how will these decisions be made The Shale Dilemma brings together experts working at the forefront of shale gas issues on four continents to explain how countries reach their decisions on shale development Using a common analytical framework the authors identify both local factors and transnational patterns in the decision making process Eight case studies reveal the trade offs each country makes as it decides whether to pursue delay or block development Those outcomes in turn reflect the nature of a country's political process and the power of interest groups on both sides of the issue. The contributors also ask whether the economic arguments made by the shale industry and its government supporters have overshadowed the concerns of local communities for information on the effects of shale operations and for tax policies and regulations to ensure broad-based economic development and environmental protection. As an informative and even-handed account, The Shale Dilemma recommends practical steps to help countries reach better, more transparent and more far-sighted decisions.
