

EXERCICES CHROMATIQUES — CHROMATIC EXERCISES — CHROMATISCHE ÜBUNGEN — 半音音階練習

The image displays a musical score for chromatic exercises, organized into six systems, each consisting of four staves. The exercises are written in treble and bass clefs, with some systems featuring a key signature change (indicated by a double bar line and a new key signature). The exercises include various chromatic scales, arpeggios, and intervals, often spanning multiple octaves. The notation includes sharp and flat accidentals, and some systems include a repeat sign (double bar line with two dots) before a final measure. The exercises are labeled with letters A, E, and E, indicating different sections or exercises.

System 1: Four staves. The first staff is labeled 'A'. The exercise consists of a series of eighth notes, starting on C4 and ascending chromatically to C5, then descending chromatically back to C4. The second staff continues the exercise, starting on C4 and ascending chromatically to C5, then descending chromatically back to C4. The third and fourth staves continue the exercise, starting on C4 and ascending chromatically to C5, then descending chromatically back to C4.

about the music for all the principal combinations of chamber groups which involve the flute The most significant ones are flute and piano two to four flutes trio sonatas with another melody instrument and piano and the wind quartet The author describes the principal works for each of these groups which are fun and manageable for amateurs rather than listing everything that is available Listed are the significant works that are available for free on the internet The third chapter suggests a short practice regime to counteract the deficiencies in the playing of most amateur flautists which are poor tone and tuning Practicing half an hour a few times a week should do the trick
